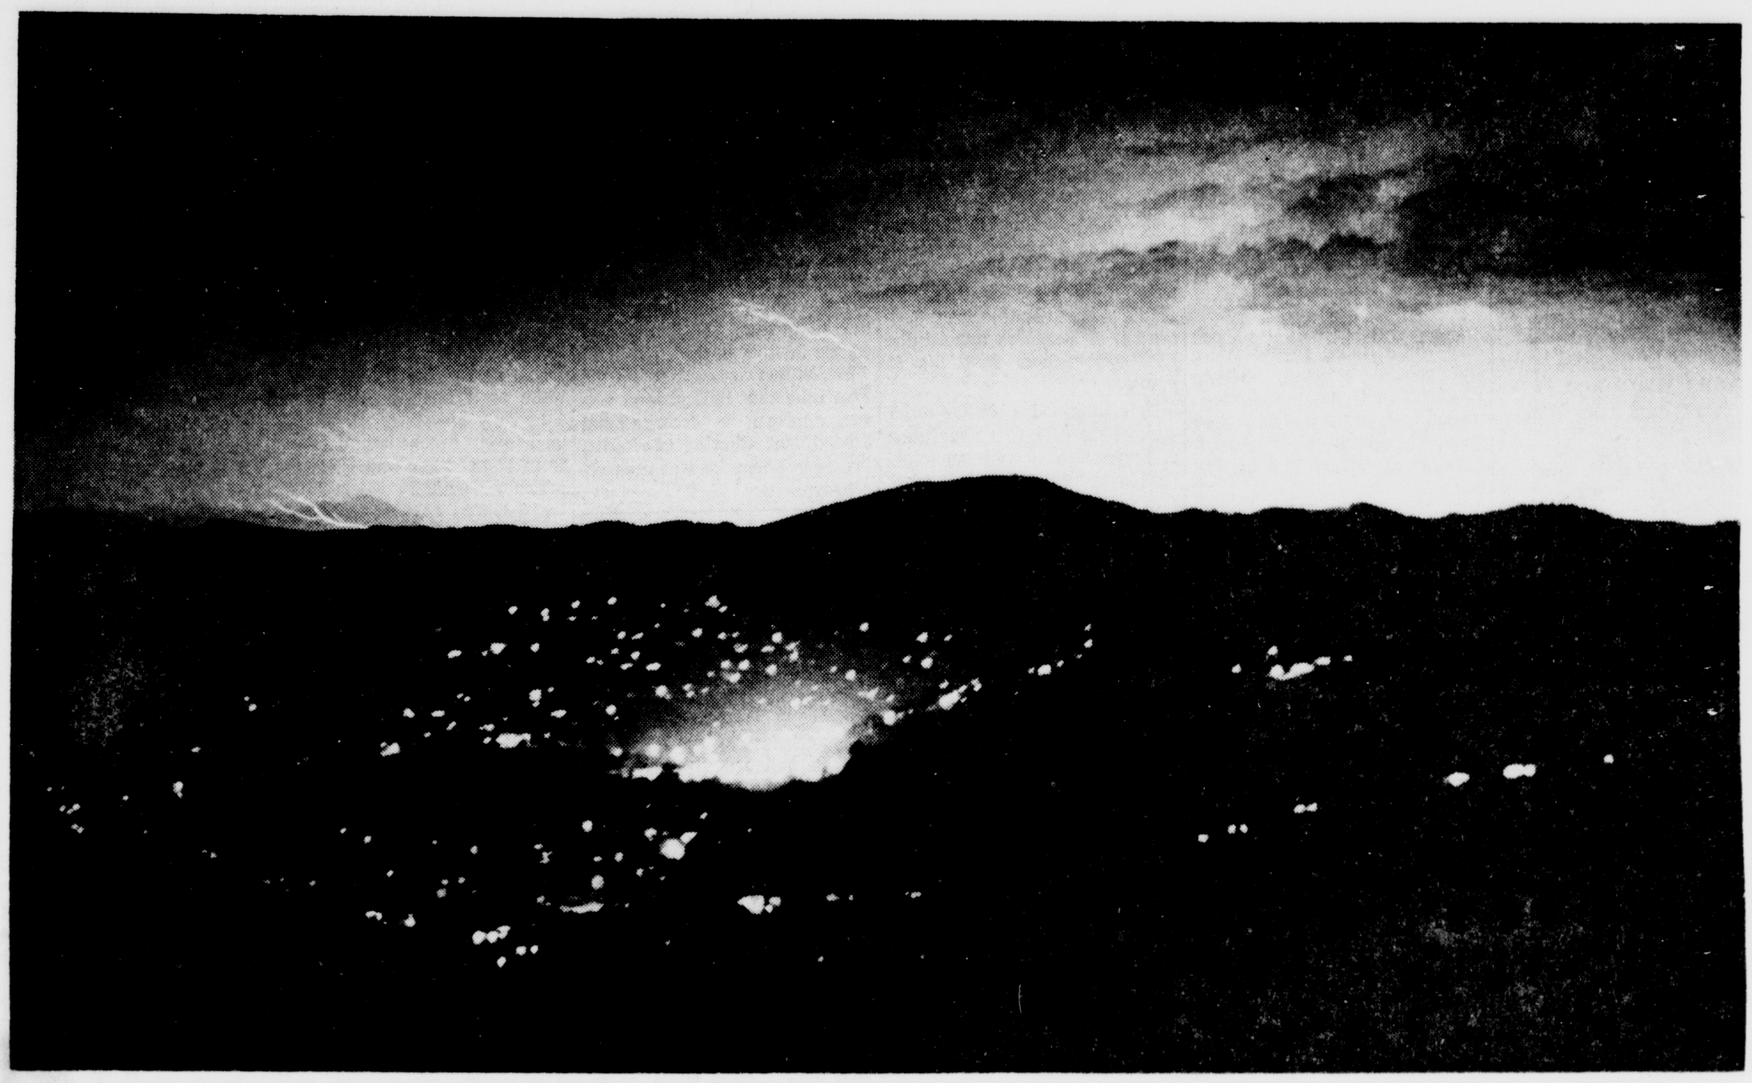
NIGHT OF THE LONG FORKS

Forked lightning danced around above Marin County last night, illuminating the hills and valley in brilliant flashes of light, as in this view of the San Anselmo-Fairfax hills by Independent-Journal photographer Jim Kean. The electrical storm passed over the county about 9 p.m. as the lightning, jumping gaps in high altitude clouds, headed out to sea. It was accompanied by thunder and some rain, but there was no report of damage. By daybreak, the turbulent cold mass high in the atmosphere, which had sparked the trouble, was away over the Pacific. The forecast for tonight and tomorrow is for 5 per cent chance of rain.



East-West Freeway Routes Presented For Supervisors

Lucas Valley Least Expensive To Build

By WAT TAKESHITA

An east--west highway from Lucas Valley Road to Nicasio would be the least costly route from Highway 101 to Point Reyes, state highway officials reported today to the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Alan S. Hart, district engineer for the State Division of Highways, said the Lucas Valley route would cost about $37 million, as compared with the $100 million that would be required for a highway through San Rafael or through Ross Valley.

Today's report was the first public presentation by the division of highways on alternate routes for the long-sought Route 17 east-west freeway that would link Highway 101 with Point Reyes National Seashore.

Highway officials and Marin supervisors agreed that a full-scale public hearing would be held on Nov. 14, with the place and time to be decided later. Hart said it will probably be a day meeting.

However, between now and Nov. 14 Hart said highway officials will be glad to meet with cities and organizations at either day or night meetings. Thus far, the highway officials are scheduled to make the following appearances before city councils:

San Anselmo, Sept. 27; San Rafael, Oct. 3; Larkspur, Oct. 5; Fairfax, Oct. 10, and Ross, Oct. 13.

Hart said the highway division is approaching the alternate routes for the east-west link with esthetic planning as well as functional planning in mind. But since the freeway will ultimately be eight lanes "You can't hide it completely."

These are the four basic corridors under study by the highway division:

1. Southern Corridor — Along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard through Kentfield, Ross and San Anselmo. Cost would be about $95 to $100 million.

2. Central Corridor — From San Rafael's Second Street along the Miracle Mile to San Anselmo and Fairfax. Cost between $87 and $100 million.

3. Ridge Corridor — Opposite the Civic Center up the ridge between Terra Linda and Sleepy Hollow, past San Domenico School and to White's Hill. Cost between $55 and $88 million.

4. Lucas Valley Corridor — A road paralleling Lucas Valley road to Big Rock, then cross-country along Bull Tail Valley and Halleck Creek to Nicasio. Cost about $37 million.

The Lucas Valley corridor is the least expensive because most of the route passes over open country, the highway engineer explained.

23,000-Acre Plan Extends Far To North

By FRANK FARRARA

San Rafael City Council last night unanimously adopted a general plan covering 23,000 acres with a potential population of 125,000, spreading to the ridge north of Marinwood.

The plan submitted by consultant Daniel P. Coleman includes a shoreline parkway along the east edge of the city, which could continue up the east coast.

Councilmen adopted the plan after a one-hour hearing at which the major objection came from attorney Richard A. Clarke, representing the Freitas estate, owners of 302 acres in the Terra Linda area.

THREE SECTORS

Clarke said the Freitas family was concerned about three sectors, totaling about 40 acres, which were designated for single-family homes in the plan. He said this acreage might better be used for greater density residential developments.

About 35 persons attended the hearing, but only three spoke, and it became evident later that many were there on other council business.

Councilmen assured Clarke that the plan was a guideline only and they were not zoning any property by approving the plan.

PRECISE PLANNING

"There will be ample opportunity for precise planning," said Councilman Charles W. Aby.

Clarke contended that when a "label" is placed on the land, there is a tendency for it to affect the zoning.

Coleman explained the plan covers four communities, roughly San Rafael, North San Pedro

Skies Clear For Lady Bird's Visit, Seashore Dedication

The random rain clouds that have swept Point Reyes National Seashore the past two days gave way to sunny skies today for the arrival of Lady Bird Johnson . . . and so, for the gala occasion, did the political and economic storms that have clouded the development of the seashore.

The First Lady was to arrive at 3:56 p.m. at Drake's Bay by helicopter from Hamilton Air Force Base to formally dedicate the seashore and unveil a metal plaque at the beach where Sir Francis Drake and his crew are believed to have careened the Golden Hind and planted a "plate of brass" more than 300 years ago.

Accompanying the president's wife were to be Gov. and Mrs. Edmund G. Brown and Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Steward L. Udall, and National Park Service Director George B. Hartzog, whose recent proposal to Congress for a method of acquiring the rest of the seashore lands drew protests from Marin County supervisors.

Feverish last-minute preparations for the one-hour ceremony went forward as technicians, sent ahead by the White House, installed electronic equipment, and extra crews, under the direction of Point Reyes Supt. Leslie P. Arnberger, groomed the beaches and readied the parking areas for the onslaught of a horde of spectators.

To those in caravans of cars following the winding rural route to Drake's Bay, the First Lady's visit seemed a promise that the proposed 53,000-acre seashore might become all that was hoped for, when Congress passed a law in 1902 establishing the park and setting a $14 million ceiling for land acquisition.

Set aside for the day was the knowledge that only 17,000 of the 53,000 acres have been acquired and that sky-rocketing land values have led proponents of the park to request an additional $40 million from a reluctant Congress.

The county supervisors, who adjourned early today to be on hand for the First Lady's arrival, were to find themselves sharing in the ceremonies with Hartzog, whose plans they had recently opposed.

Hartzog had requested Congress to appropriate all the money needed to acquire the remaining seashore lands and had suggested that the park service be authorized to lease back portions of it for private commercial development.

Representatives of garden clubs, conservation societies, and civic groups, citizens on their own and school children in droves took to the highway from noon on.

Among the children were all 31 of Mrs. Irwin Phillip's fourth graders at MacPhail School in Santa Venetia. As an exercise in letter writing and California history, they wrote Lady Bird Johnson asking if they might attend, with a copy to Rep. Don H. Clausen (R-First District). Clausen replied they were most welcome and their parents formed a motorcade.

For Mrs. Johnson, still four hours away by jet as the local exodus gathered steam, the dedication ceremonies were to be a high point of a 17-hour day, marking as they would her concern for the beautification of the California Population Takes A Jump Upward

WASHINGTON (AP) — California, which surpassed New York two years ago as the nation's most populous state, increased its lead the past year to more than a half million persons, the Census Bureau reported today.

The bureau estimated California's population as of July 1 at 18,918,000, including 389,000 Armed Forces stationed in the state. This was 515,000 more than the estimate for the previous July 1 and 3.2 million or 20 per cent above the 1960 census figure.

The bureau estimated the number of persons in New York at 18,238,000 July 1, a 9 per cent increase—or 1.5 million—above the 1960 census and 152,000 more than July 1, 1965.

Nevada, fastest growing state in the nation, had a July 1 population of 454,000, the bureau estimated, up 59 per cent from the 1960 census.

The bureau said a major factor in the growth of western states is migration.

The total population of the country was estimated at 195,857,000 July 1, up 9 per cent from 1960.

U.N. Opening Is Shrouded In Gloom

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly opens its 21st session today in an atmosphere of gloom, with East-West relations seriously impaired by the Viet Nam war and with little prospect of progress on major issues.

The only bright spots were the decision of Indonesia to resume its U.N. membership after an absence of 18 months and an indication from U Thant that he might continue as secretary-general until the end of the year if no successor is found in the next few weeks.

Advance agreement assured the election without a floor fight of Afghanistan's veteran Ambassador Abdul Rahman Pazhwak as assembly president for the 13-week session. This will clear the way for quick organization of the 117-nation body.

Although the Viet Nam war is not formally on the assembly's agenda, it is expected to play a major role both in the general debate which begins later this week and in the discussions of disarmament, outer space law and other issues coming up later in the session.

U.S. Troops Assault Top Communist Force

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. troops appeared today to have squeezed the elusive North Vietnamese 324B Division of 7,000 men into a 10-mile-wide circle of the demilitarized zone (DMZ) near the coast. U.S. fighter-bombers, artillery, ships and Marines on the ground battered the crack Communist force.

U.S. Marines charged through machinegun fire and seized the fortified border village of An Dinh Monday, killing 53 North Vietnamese troops with the aid of air strikes and artillery. Marines to the south killed another 15 in an assault on a Red mountain stronghold nicknamed "The Rock Pile."

The savage assaults against the green-uniformed Communist division was backed up by 116 missions —several hundred flights —against the Communist North. One group of planes blew up a freight train "like a string of firecrackers" on the rail line between Hanoi and Communist China.

More important to the Marines in the battle to crush the 324B Division was a series of air strikes against the lower part of North Viet Nam known as the panhandle —the main supply route to the Communist division.

The Air Force flew 11 missions against troop concentrations in the DMZ separating North and South Viet Nam and B-52 strategic bombers rained tons of bombs on their 9th DMZ raid Monday night.

One F-105 was reported shot down over the North; the pilot was listed as missing.

There were brisk firefights elsewhere across the country, spokesmen said. Government troops reported killing or capturing 28 Viet Cong in an operation 75 miles southwest of Saigon.

A U.S. soldier was shot in the hand by an unknown terrorist as he walked along a Saigon street last night and a terrorist grenade blast injured a Vietnamese policeman on the Saigon docks.

Spokesmen in Saigon meanwhile reported that U.S. pilots Viet Nam yesterday, in one strike blowing up a freight train like a string of firecrackers as it moved along tracks 55 miles northeast of Hanoi.

For the first time in four days, no Communist MIG17 jet were sighted over the North. Pilots of Air Force F-105 Thunderchief jet bombers wrecked the train in the area known as "MIG Alley" and were not challenged.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Forest Service announced today it will issue a formal notice for reclassification of the 41,383-acre Desolution Valley Primitive Area west of Lake Tahoe as a wilderness area.

Surveyor 2 On Its Way To The Moon

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The United States sent its second Surveyor lunar landing robot racing on a near-perfect course to the moon today to scout the center of the Apollo astronaut landing zone with a rotating television camera.

The 2,204-pound spacecraft performed the early space maneuvers of its 2-day picture taking expedition with precision and was headed toward a landing on a crater-scarred lunar plain that astronauts someday may visit.

Surveyor control at Pasadena, reported three hours after launch that the shot was "at least as accurate" as Surveyor 1's May 30, and that Surveyor 2 could reach the moon without a course change. Engineers, however, plan to fire small rocket engines aboard the craft midway in the mission to steer it to a precise touchdown site.

Surveyor 2 was attempting to match the flawless soft landing of Surveyor 1 June 2, but must negotiate a more difficult landing approach on a rougher area of the lunar surface.

Industrialist Indicted In Sale

NEW YORK (AP)—Industrialist Louis E. Wolfson, 54, has been indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of selling $3.5 million worth of unregistered stock of Continental Enterprises, Inc., in which he is a major stockholder.

Wolfson

Crux of the indictment yesterday was the alleged sale of the stock without filing federally required registration statements.

Named as codefendant was Elkin B. Gerbert, 48, a Wolfson aide and a Continental vice president. Their arraignment was scheduled for next week.

U.S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau described Continental as a firm "spun off" some years ago from Wolfson's Capital Transit, which owned the Washington, D.C., transit system.

Continental leases and operates theaters and is involved in film making.

Integrated Staff Goes On Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — An integrated teaching staff went on strike at a new $5-million model school in Harlem today to protest the replacement of the white principal by a Negro assistant.

Announcement yesterday of the replacement had ended the threat of a boycott by Negro parents. The Board of Education had kept the school closed in face of the threat.

The board said the school would open today despite the strike.

A group of teachers picketed the school carrying a sign reading "All of us or none of us." A second group of teachers marched in front of the board's offices in Brooklyn.

The newly designated principal, Beryl Banfield, said she did not want the job. "I object to being chosen on the basis of color, not competence," she said.

The Board of Education announced yesterday that Stanley Lisser had agreed to step down as principal to ease racial tensions in the neighborhood.

The board and Negro and Puerto Rican parents in the area have been contending over the school for several weeks. The parents demanded that white pupils be bused in to integrate the school but the board refused.

Then the parents demanded neighborhood control of the school, with parents to have a voice in determining who would teach at the school and in selecting the curriculum. The parents made appointment of a Negro or Puerto Rican man as principal a major demand.

Goodwin Says Policy Deception

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A former White House speech-writer and special assistant to two Presidents charges the administration at times has tried purposely to "deceive" Americans about U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

Richard N. Goodwin, onetime aide to Presidents Kennedy and Johnson, said although many of the administration's statements and speeches on Viet Nam are "sincere and well-meaning," some are "intended to deceive...(and) a deliberate lie and distortion."

Goodwin, now a fellow at Wesleyan University's Center for Advanced Studies, made the accusation Saturday in a speech before the National Board of Americans for Democratic Action (ADA).

Judge Bans School Strike In Richmond

RICHMOND (AP)—A Superior Court judge ordered an end today to the first teachers' strike in California history, a walkout called partly in protest to a pay raise.

Judge Martin Rothenberg granted a temporary injunction at nearby Martinez against the walkout by some 145 members of the AFL-CIO American Federation of Teachers against the Richmond School District's 61 plants.

He also issued a similar order against the AFL-CIO Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes which struck a week ago yesterday. That union represents janitors and gardeners.

In each case, the judge used the law preventing strikes by public employes. He ordered both unions to appear Oct. 4 to show cause why the orders should not be made permanent.

Teachers, out for only one day with their red picket signs, had demanded a representation election. They also demanded that money used to grant a 2 per cent wage boost be used instead to improve instructional facilities.

Racial Themes Overshadow Conference

KENTUCKY DAM VILLAGE, Ky. (AP) — The Deep South's concern over civil rights has seeped into the Southern Governors Conference which customarily excludes it from the agenda.

Despite plentiful topics ranging from tourism to transportation, the news conferences of four governors yesterday were dominated by racial themes.

HAS SUPPORT

Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, denouncing what he termed federal intrusion into neighborhood school systems, said he is seriously interested in running for president in 1968 as an independent.

South Carolina Gov. Robert E. McNair proposed a resolution calling on President Johnson to soften federal guidelines on school integration. He said last night he had the support of half the Southern governors.

SOUTH'S BURDEN

Mississippi Gov. Paul B. Johnson Jr. said he is at a disadvantage in coping with occasional violence stemming from the integration "burden placed on the South's back."

McKeithen announced for the first time that if Louisiana voters approve a constitutional amendment allowing two terms for a governor, he will seek re-election.

Anderson Lacks Nerve To Debate, Finch Says

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Democratic Gov. Brown welcomed the nation's First Lady to California today while Republican Ronald Reagan carried his campaign for governor to a cemetery.

Reagan, meanwhile, planned a talk to workers at Forest Lawn Cemetery in Los Angeles before touring a juvenile detention home and police training academy and lunching with Los Angeles Dist. Atty. Evelle Younger.

Elsewhere on the pre-election front, GOP candidate Robert Finch said the man he's opposing — Lt. Gov. Glenn M. Anderson — has broken of negotiations for a televised debate.

"Glenn Anderson is a political coward," Finch said in a Los Angeles statement. "Faced with another test of his nerve, he has choked up again and run out on the written commitment he made to CBS to face the people in a television debate.

"When Anderson accepted the debate I issued a public statement giving him a blank check . . . I will debate Anderson anytime, anywhere, on any terms he selects."

There was no immediate response from Anderson's camp.

Finch told a Sacramento news conference yesterday that Anderson's campaign for re-election is "aimed at keeping out of the public's sight."

His comments came in the wake of a Los Angeles Times survey reporting Anderson's lead over Finch has declined from 17 to 12 per cent since the primary election.

Charles Paul, state agricultural director, said Reagan's assertion that not enough State Agricultural Board members are farmers is an "absurdly distorted non-fact."

Paul, a Brown appointee, said 9 of 13 members of the board are farmers, two others represent the dairy industry and farm finance and "the others by law represent agricultural research and education."

Reagan said last week if he were elected governor he'd give farmers more representation on the board.

Lawyers Ask For New Law on Abortions

ANAHEIM (UPI) — Legalized therapeutic abortions in certain instances were endorsed yesterday by delegates attending the 39th annual State Bar of California convention.

Delegates called upon the Board of Governors to sponsor legislation which would permit abortions in cases of rape, incest, if the mother's health is gravely impaired or if the child is likely to be born defective.

The legislation endorsed was a bill by Assemblyman Anthony C. Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills, now a candidate for state senator. His bill, which failed to win passage, will not become an official part of the state bar legislative program unless, approved by the Board of Governors.

The delegates took no action on a perennial resolution calling for the automatic disbarment of Communist members, and approved a resolution urging legislation to make mandatory release of defendants without bail when it appears they will show up in courts as ordered.

One of the principal resolutions introduced yesterday called for a professional code of conduct that would prohibit all lawyers including district attorneys from making any disclosure to the news media "which might be reasonably expected to interfere with a fair trial or with due administration of justice."

The resolution, supported by the Los Angeles County Bar Assn., in effect would have a more binding effect than Canon 20 of the American Bar Assn. which generally only condemns public statements by lawyers on pending cases.

A second resolution, submitted by the Orange County Bar Assn., would ban television, broadcasting equipment and news photographers from trial courts.

Delegates were expected to vote on these and other resolutions yesterday.

Learn, Baby, Learn, Says Rev. King

GRENADA, Miss. (UPI) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., voicing the slogan "Learn, Baby, Learn," today led Negro students to schools where integration last week set off a mob frenzy by whites.

King told a gathering of Negro students and parents at the Bellflower Baptist church before leading them on the demonstration that he could not agree with the black power slogan of "Burn, Baby, Burn" that came out of the 1965 riots in Watts.

"I am forced to disagree with that slogan," King said. "I say learn, baby, learn and build, baby, build."

King told the pre-march church gathering that he conferred with attorneys Monday night on possible court action to admit about 40 Negro students who were turned away from previously all-white schools Monday because of alleged improper application forms.

Scuba Diver's Body Washes Up

The body of a missing Alameda scuba diver was washed up yesterday on the rugged shoreline of Drake's Bay.

The body was identified as that of 22-year-old Ted Dallas, who vanished while diving with three companions off Drake's Bay Sept. 11, said the Coast Guard.

Marin County coroner's office, however, was unwilling to confirm the report until the body had been positively identified.

Air and surface units were unable to locate Dallas, a student at Chabot College, Hayward, after his companions reported he was swept by strong winds away from their boat.

Grandson Held In Strangulation

OAKLAND (AP)—Her grandson is being held by police today in the strangulation of Mrs. Karen Stevens, 76, crippled widow whose body was found last Thursday in her fashionable Lake Merritt apartment.

Arrested on a vagrancy charge in Salem, Ore., was Frank Hubbell, 20, her grandson, whom police Lt. Dom DiFraia says has been absent without leave since July 9 from the Army Coding and Deciphering School at Fort Gordon, Ga.

Also arrested was his buddy, Dale Richard York, 18, of Portland. York, whom Hubbell said he met while hitchhiking, was apprehended in a Portland bus station.

ROUTE

because built-up areas must be acquired for rights of way, and elevated and depressed highways would have to be built through cities.

In addition to the four basic corridors, two transfer lines have been developed for north-south connection. One would leave the central corridor just east of Red Hill in San Anselmo and proceed up the ridge to join the ridge corridor. Another would leave the ridge corridor and meet the Lucas Valley corridor about half way to Big Rock.

Several alternate alignments have been designed for each of the main corridors. For example, in San Rafael, one route is elevated through town and depressed along the Miracle Mile. It would pass between the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. substation and Albert Field. Another would swing below Albert Field.

Along the Miracle Mile, one plan shows the road taking homes along the south side, while another shows the road along the north side, taking the commercial strip.

In summary, the highway engineers gave this appraisal:

The southern corridor satisfies heavy traffic demands through Ross Valley but does not help the Miracle Mile or San Rafael.

The central corridor provides the best overall relief to traffic in San Rafael, San Anselmo, and Fairfax.

The ridge and Lucas Valley corridors provide little relief for the cities mentioned, and thus leave the solution to increasing congestion to the cities themselves.

Naked Youth Is Arrested

A 23-year-old Berkeley youth who reportedly was on an LSD "trip" was in county jail today after walking nude into the home of a Homestead Valley family.

Sheriff's officers booked the youth, Christian Kolle Intemann, for indecent exposure, with bail set at $550.

Carl K. Raadik of 1203 Waterview Street, Homestead Valley, told officers he, his wife, and their small children were in their living room at 7:40 p.m. yesterday when the naked Intemann entered.

Raadik said he grabbed Intemann, took him outside, and wrestled him to the ground while Mrs. Raadik called the sheriff's office. Deputies wrapped Intemann in a blanket during the arrest.

Thief Takes Cash, Leaves Some, Too

A crook who would not leave his victim penniless took $350 in cash and checks from a money bag on Raymond D. Hook's desk at the Signal Service station, Third and Irwin Streets, San Rafael, yesterday, but left behind $50 sitting in easy view on the same desk, police reported.

Hook told officers the theft occurred at about 10 a.m. when several customers were in the station. He said $200 of the take was in cash.

Policeman Loses Badge In Bay

San Rafael Patrolman Gilbert E. Freitas lost his police badge yesterday—to the depths of San Francisco Bay.

Writing up his loss on a police report, Freitas said he was in a boat anchored 100 yards off the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge. He leaned over the side of the boat to weigh anchor and fell in. His wallet, with $15 cash, credit cards and his badge, fell from his pocket.

Nuclear Weapon Pullout Denied

BONN, Germany (AP) — The U.S. government has no intention of taking its nuclear weapons out of Europe, the American Embassy declared today.

The unusual official statement was issued, a spokesman said, because there had been numerous inquiries and considerable misinformation on the subject.

The spokesman said the embassy was authorized — presumably from Washington — to deny that the United States has any plans to "denuclearize Europe" or change its policy of making nuclear weapons available for the defense of the Atlantic alliance.

LBJ Nominates Admiral To Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson announced today he is nominating Vice Adm. Rufus L. Taylor, a Navy intelligence expert, to be deputy director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Johnson conferred with Taylor on "problems of the agency and some events in the world," then summoned newsmen to his office to announce his choice of Taylor for the No. 2 post at CIA.

Rec Board To Meet On Channel Dredging

The Strawberry Recreation District Board will hold a special meeting at 8 p.m. today at Strawberry Point School, to certify results of last week's election creating a special assessment zone within the district to finance dredging Strawberry Channel for small boats.

At the same, the district board will begin consideration of the amount of the bond issue required, said George C. Lopes, district property manager.

He said use of a suction dredge might require a $15,000 contract and two dredges over a period of years would increase the tab.

Girl, 13, Missing In Trip To Dance

Teresa Louise Honnen, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis R. Honnen of 777 Sun Lane, Loma Verde, has been reported missing from her home since Friday, sheriff's officers said today.

They said she left her residence about 6:30 p.m., joined two girl friends in taking a bus to a San Francisco dance.

The two companions returned about midnight Friday, but Teresa did not.

put the war before the assembly, Czechoslovakia proposed yesterday that the assembly bebate "the prohibition of the threat or use of force in international relations."

U.N. officials estimated that more than 80 heads of government, foreign ministers and other cabinet members would be present for at least part of the session. They will not only take part in the debates but will engage in behind-the-scene talks. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey was among those expected at the opening session.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk already has arranged to meet with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko on Thursday in an effort to improve U. S.-Soviet relations. U. S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg said Viet Nam would be a subject for discussion, but in the past the Soviet Union has refused to talk about peace moves.

Thant told a news conference yesterday that East-West delations had dropped to a new low, mainly because of the Viet Nam war, and that there had been a stiffening of the attitudes by all sides.

"To my knowledge, there has not been any meaningful dialogue between Washington and Moscow for a long time," he said.

While some diplomats were encouraged by Thant's indication that he might stay on through the assembly session if no agreement was reached on a successor, the leadership crisis was by no means ended.

Thant insisted that he was not only unhappy about the Viet Nam war and the U.N. financial situation but that he was disturbed by the tendency of some governments to regard the secretary-general as a "glorified clerk." This apparently was a reference to the Soviet bloc, which has often accused Thant and his predecessors of exceeding their authority.

Pedestrian Hit, Driver Cited

A 75-year-old Fairfax woman was knocked down and bruised as she crossed San Francisco Boulevard in San Anselmo yesterday at 1:12 p.m.

Mrs. Celeste Hinard of 23 Claus Drive, Fairfax, was treated by a private doctor for bruises. The driver of the car, Mrs. Rosa P. Johnston, 56, of 228 Laberne Avenue, Mill Valley, was cited by police for failure to yield to a pedestrian in a crosswalk. Mrs. Johnston was turning left onto Sir Francis Drake Boulevard when her car hit the pedestrian.

Special Meeting Set On Baseball Plans

The Larkspur City Council will consider plans for a baseball diamond in the 43-acre city park on Doherty Drive tomorrow in a special session at 8 p.m. at city hall.

The council will also consider a final map for unit two of the Meadows subdivision, submitted by developers Harry Reid and Joseph Drochin. The Marin Conservation League will make a report on proposed uses of Mount Tamalpais, and the council will set a date for public hearing on abandonment of Bush Street.

Park Design Bids Given To Hub Board

The San Anselmo Park and Recreation Commission last night took estimates from five planning firms on planning of the Sorich Ranch park, and considered some features for the park's development.

Estimates ranged from $4,500 by Theodore Osmundson and Associates of San Francisco down to $500 by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Steinmetz of San Rafael.

Possibilities for the park considered by the commission included an amphitheater which could double as a skating and dancing area, a recreation center, a swimming pool, and fishing ponds.

The commission noted that part of the ranch property might be sold only as a last resort for financing development of the rest of the park.

The commission asked Recreation Director Andrew J. Snyder to meet with Mrs. V. B. Nickerson of San Anselmo to organize a San Anselmo Senior Citizens Club.

Arrested Youths Not At A Party

Two youths arrested early Saturday on charges of possession of alcohol by a minor did not attend a party in Kent Woodlands that attracted a boisterous crowd of more than 200 youths.

Lawrence A. Elbert, 19, of 90 Eliseo Drive, Greenbrae, and Elliott Dean Kirschner, 19, of 715 Spring Street, Sausalito, were arrested on the charges at the Kent Woodlands shopping center.

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales said today the charges against them had been dropped and no complaint would be issued.

Questioning Due GI In Slaying

Chief Charles Chiesa of San Rafael said today his department will question a 20-year-old AWOL soldier, held by Oakland police for the strangulation slaying of his grandmother, in connection with the Feb. 1 bludgeon slaying of Mrs. Marjorie S. Rudolph in her San Rafael home.

Chiesa said the soldier, Frank Hubble, is not a suspect. "We don't know a thing about him. We just check into any murder slightly similar to ours," the chief said.

Hubble's grandmother, Mrs. Karen Stevens, 76, was found dead last Thursday in her Lake Merritt apartment. She was crippled and a widow.

High-Powered Rifle Taken From Home

Loss of a high-powered rifle in a burglary of the home of Walter E. Ericksen, 33 Circle Road, Los Ranchitos, was reported today by sheriff's deputies. Entry was via an unlocked rear door.

Ann D. Soukka, 36 Lucky Drive, Greenbrae, told officers someone entered her home through an open door, making off with $475 in traveler's checks and cash.

PLAN

Road area, Terra Linda, and Marinwood, and 30 neighborhoods. Each community would have a high school and each neighborhood an elementary school and a park, he said.

The growth of the area would be slow, "and it might take another 50 years to fill it up," Coleman said. The level areas are developed and most of the development to come will be on hillsides or flanks of hills, he said.

Under the plan Highway 17 would go through San Rafael along First Street and then the Miracle Mile to the city line, and branch northward to a ridge route through San Anselmo and Fairfax to San Geronimo Valley.

There would be two major shopping districts, downtown San Rafael and the Northgate Shopping Center.

Coleman pointed out that all references to development of the tidelands, outside the levee, have been deleted from the plan. The tidelands area is now under jurisdiction of the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

The plan also includes a park at Paganini Point, which in conjunction with a county park, could serve as a regional park at the mouth of the San Rafael Canal, Coleman said.

Charles Paganini of 600 Point San Pedro Road objected and asked that his property be deleted from the plan.

Coleman said the Paganini park proposal was included because the county has it included in its master plan for parks, and the city is attempting to cooperate with the county.

Councilmen advised Paganini, whose property is not in the city, to make his protest when the county holds hearings on its parks plan.

Coleman pointed out that there are many areas in the plan which are not in the city.

Along with the existing industrial areas, the plan indicates industrial development east of Highway 101, north of the present Northgate Industrial Park.

The council also received a letter from the parks and recreation commission endorsing the park and recreation elements of the plan. A priority program, following the guidelines of the general plan, will be prepared by the commission and submitted to the council, Chairman Charles L. Tacchi reported.

Poll In Favor Of Gun Registry

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The California Poll reported today that public opinion in the state would strongly favor a law requiring citizens to register guns with law enforcement agencies.

A recent survey showed 79 per cent in favor with only 17 per cent against. The remainder had reservations or no opinion about the proposal.

The argument supporting the law is it would cut down on the ease with which criminals and the emotionally disturbed can get firearms. Those opposed say the legislation might clash with the U. S. Constitution which guarantees the right to keep and bear arms.

Council Wants Guidelines On Annexation

Mill Valley City Council last night asked the Marin County Council of Mayors and Councilmen to urge adoption of definite guidelines for annexations.

The Local Agency Formation Commission already has some guidelines, City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer noted, but "it has no yardstick by which a city can judge a proposed annexation in advance."

Balmer suggested the commission and council of mayors and councilmen have a workshop to work out such a yardstick. The next meeting of the mayors and councilmen is Sept. 23 in San Rafael.

A proposal by Mayor Albert E. White that Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen "be asked to resign or be removed from" the commission was opposed by the council. Dr. White was agitated because Kettenhofen, an alternate member of the commission already has said Highway 101 should divide Mill Valley and Tiburon and all annexations should be deferred because they may thwart eventual formation of a City and County of Marin.

The supervisor has "pre-judged" Mill valley's proposed annexation in Strawberry Peninsula, the mayor complained.

Supervisors "are concerned with their own dynasty," Councilman Rodric L. Robinson said. The solution to Kettenhofen's suggestion for deferral of annexations would be to "tighten up the state law" to strengthen the hand of cities in annexing unincorporated areas, he said.

Saucelito Canal May Be Dredged Next Year

A two-year delay in dredging the Saucelito Canal to Mill Valley's small craft harbor may be cut by a year, City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer told the city council last night.

An 80-foot wide pilot channel may be dredged next year by members of the assessment district along the canal, Balmer said, if the cost of the pilot channel can be counted by the Army Corps of Engineers toward the members' share of the cost of the whole project.

The corps is to split the cost with the district, which is empowered to tax its members up to $400,000.

The delay was caused by realignment of the canal when the adopted in 1964, obliging the corps to go back to Congress for funds for a re-designed project. Funding and approval of plans will take another two years, the corps has estimated. The corps' plan is for a 300-foot-wide channel.

No other proposed yacht harbor in Richardson Bay will be built, Balmer said, until the canal is dredged to provide egress to San Francisco Bay.

Another complication, he said, will be expiration at the end of this year of the city's $300,000 loan from the State Small Craft Harbor Commission to develop the harbor. The city may have to get another extension on the loan, he suggested.

Missile Blast Starts Base Grass Fires

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE (AP)—A Minuteman 1 intercontinental ballistics missile which exploded shortly after launch today started several grass and brush fires on this base, the Air Force reported.

A spokesman described the fires started by burning debris as small and said they were in a remote area at the northern end of the base.

However, fire fighting units which had been standing by and several pieces of heavy equipment were dispatched to the fire scene and 250 additional base personnel were sent for fire fighting duty if needed.

The Air Force said no personnel were reported injured in the explosion or fires and no structures were in the fire area.

The Air Force said cause of the explosion had not been determined.

San Francisco's Top City Planner Stepping Down

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—City planning director James R. McCarthy, 46, resigned yesterday after eight years in the $22,000-a-year post.

McCarthy, who had many public clashes with other officials, said his resignation was for reasons of health.

He said his resignation was not related to a controversy over commission policies, but resulted from medical advice. He said his heart condition was made worse by "enduring the tensions and stresses" as director.

McCarthy's ouster was demanded in August by the San Francisco Planning and Urban Renewal Assn. McCarthy offered to quit two months ago if the planning commission was not satisfied with his performance.

Mill Valley Boosts Rates For Home Garbage Service

Higher garbage rates for Mill Valley homeowners were approved last night by the city council.

Effective Oct. 1, the rate swill be $2 a can for houses not more than 150 feet above sea level, $2.50 for houses between 150 and 350 feet, and $3 for houses more than 350 feet above sea level.

The former rates were $1.35, $1.60 and $2.10 for each of three levels. Pending negotiation with Mill Valley Refuse Service Inc., which has an exclusive contract with the city for the service, the council hiked the rates last spring by 15 cents.

The garbage company has been trying to get higher rates since January, 1965, but until last night was unable to satisfy the council's demand that it prove its claim that it was losing money on its operation in the city.

City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer recommended last night that the rates be set at $1.50, $1.75 and $2.10, and that the city get a franchise fee of 7.5 per cent of the company's annual gross revenue in the city, but the council adopted the increases proposed by the garbage company and a 5 per cent franchise fee. The company had been paying the city a flat monthly fee of $150.

The increases were granted on condition that they be reviewed by the council after one year to determine if the new rates provide the company with a "reasonable" profit. The company is to revise its bookkeeping so that records for its operation in the city will be separate from those in areas outside the city.

If proved unwarranted after a year, the rates are to drop and customers to be refunded some portion of their payments for the year.

The fact that the company's books did not separate the Mill Valley operation from others delayed settlement of the 20-month hassle over its request for higher rates.

City Atty. Leland H. Jordan is to prepare an amendment to the franchise for the Oct. 3 council meeting. The franchise has three years to run.

Apartment dwellers will pay the same rates as homeowners. The rates for schools and commercial customers will remain generally the same.

The council approved Balmer's recommendations that the amended franchise stipulate that the company provide a free pickup of refuse and trash for homeowners once a year, and that customers may put anything into garbage cans except dirt, rocks, and waste construction material.

The Mill Valley City Council Also:

1. Urged that a four-lane extension of Miller Avenue be built from Almonte Boulevard to the future alignment of Shoreline Highway, and asked the state to expedite adoption of a route for improvement of Shoreline Highway. The council took no action on a recommendation by Planning Director Harvey E. Bragdon that the highway be routed through Tennessee Valley.

2. Agreed to oppose a proposal by the Bay Area Air Pollution Control board to ban backyard burning, until the county provides a new dump.

3. Approved formation of an assessment district for streets and utilities in the Blithedale Park subdivision between West Blithedale Avenue and Manzanita Place.

4. Called for bids to repair a road slide at 160 Monte Vista Avenue, the cost estimated at $5,000 by City Engineer Stanley Bala.

5. Gave first reading to an ordinance granting a cable antenna television franchise for 15 years to Clear View Cable Systems, Inc., of Fairfax, the city to receive from 5 to 5.5 per cent of the gross receipts, depending on the number of subscribers.

6. Approved a lot split by Lloyd Burris at Country Club Drive and Elinor Avenue.

Sessions Set On Sausalito Library Plan

Sausalito library board last night set special meetings for Sept. 20 to discuss its building program and Oct. 3 to hear site recommendations for a new library.

Architect Aaron Green is to present cost estimates at the Sept. 27 meeting for the new library, to be between 10,000 and 12,000 square feet. The present library has 1,775 square feet.

Discussions of sites centered last night on one north of the Bank of America and two on a proposed extension of Vina Del Mar Plaza. All are city owned.

The board set a Dec. 16 deadline for Green to submit his design for the new library.

A new system that automatically rectifies the tilt of aerial photographs and scales them to proper ratios is being used to verify compliance to Government farm programs.

Smog Controls Upheld As Good

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Nearly 14,000 tons of pollutants cloud Los Angeles County air daily, but that's 6,185 tons less than there would be without controls.

That was the message county air pollution control officer Louis J. Fuller delivered yesterday to a congressional subcommittee on science, research and development. Fuller was joined by Eric Grant, executive officer of the Motor Vehicle Pollution Control Board, and A. J. Haagen-Smit, a teacher at the California Institute of Technology and the man who first isolated smog components.

Six million California vehicles have crankcase controls and 800,000 have exhaust controls, Grant told subcommitteemen Reps. Alphonzo Bell, R-Los Angeles and George Brown Jr., D-Monterey Park.

Novato Council To Discuss TV Ordinance

The Novato City Council will continue its public hearing on the proposed community television antennae ordinance when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

The council will also consider the request by Asst. County Adm. John Barrows for city's consent to the county holding a public hearing on taking the Novato Fire District into a proposed county service area.

Town Board To Hear Variance Request

The Corte Madera Board of Adjustments will consider two variance requests tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at the town hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Mix are seeking a variance for an addition to their house at 172 Birch Avenue, and Jack Maxwell is seeking a variance for a fence at 129 Westward Drive.

Stubblebine Quits; Tam Board Names Mrs. Wallace

Dr. J. M. Stubblebine resigned by letter last night from the Tamalpais High School District Board, bringing to two the number of vacancies on the five-member board.

The board had intended last night merely to set up procedures for appointment of a trustee to fill the vacancy created by the death of Mrs. Marietta F. Larsen.

Stubblebine, now program chief of San Francisco Community Mental Health Services, had said some time ago that the mounting pressure of his work required his resignation, but the board believed he had been persuaded to remain. His letter from Boston, where he is on a business trip, caught the board by surprise.

Mrs. Wallace, resident of Marin for 20 years, has lived for 16 years in Belvedere, where she was active in Reed School District affairs, and for the past four years at 134 Buena Vista Avenue, Corte Madera. She served for 10 years on the Marin County School District Organization Committee and was its chairman for a time. The Wallaces have five children.

The Tamalpais High School Dist. Board Also:

1. Rejected a $100,000 claim by Marie Chase Sr. of Mill Valley for injuries suffered by her daughter, Marie, 6, when hit this summer by a vehicle driven by a district employee.

2. Reported an increase in district enrollment from 5,457 at beginning of last year to 5,629 this year.

3. Awarded a $16,696 contract to Printmat Pacific of San Francisco, sole bidder on a $13,108 offset press and $3,588 camera for the district's print shop.

4. Employed Dr. Keith Beery at $15 an hour as consulting psychologist to work four hours a week with handicapped children at Drake High School while the district seeks a qualified full-time psychologist.

5. Awarded a $6,864 contract to Kelly Refrigeration Service of San Rafael for three mechanical milkshake makers—one for each high school — to further automate milkshake-making and reduce labor costs, the money to come from the student body fund.

6. Heard reports on three summer workshops conducted by district teachers to improve curricula and teaching methods in art, industrial art and other areas.

7. Accepted the resignation of Drake physical education instructor Eleanor Williston, who is marrying and moving to New York.

8. Appointed two new teachers at Drake: Jacquelyn M. Key to teach social studies and Kathleen E. Schnabel to teach physical education, both at salaries that were not disclosed by the board.

Crop loss due to weeds and weed control operations cost California farmers nearly $1 million each day.

Listening Devices Bill Promised

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two House Democrats announced plans yesterday to seek federal legislation to clamp down on eavesdropping devices.

Reps. John E. Moss, D-Calif., and Cornelius E. Gallagher, D-N.J., said they would introduce bills today to prohibit the interstate shipment of electronic eavesdropping devices except by law enforcement officers specifically authorized under state of federal law to use them in performance of official duties.

Moss is chairman of the Foreign Operations and Government Information Subcommittee, which has investigated the use of lie detectors and telephone monitoring by federal agencies.

NEW LAW PROPOSED

Automation May Kill Tax Tipoff Rewards

WASHINGTON (AP) — Computers may soon put paid tax tipsters out of business.

A bill on Capitol Hill would bar the Treasury Department from rewarding — with up to 10 per cent of the take — the tipsters who tattle to tax collectors about their neighbors or fellow employes.

Its sponsor, Rep. Richard H. Fulton, D-Tenn., cited Internal Revenue Service computers as one reason for ending tips for tipsters.

Action this year on the bill is unlikely because of the little time remaining before Congress adjourns, probably next month.

The bill undoubtedly will be reintroduced next year.

The Treasury Department is now drafting its formal position. Even if it does oppose the bill, it is not expected to take a strong stand.

"We would rather have a lot of other bills passed first," said one Treasury employe who has been working on President Johnson's anti-inflation plans.

One source said today the government might hesitate to give up any legitimate tool for enforcing the law. But IRS figures show that only about one in every 20 tipsters actually claims a reward.

IRS has also placed great faith in its computers which begnining Jan. 1 will check every income tax return.

The service has said that fear of the computer is often enough incentive for an otherwise evasive taxpayer to come clean.

Rewards to tipsters are given only on request and only after IRS decides how much the informant's tip was worth.

During the year ended June 30, 1965, the service rejected 3,665 reward claims and paid 792 claimants $597,731, an average of $754.71 per successful tipster.

It credited $12.9 million in tax collections to "information furnished by informants," both paid and unpaid. The informants can receive up to 10 per cent of the recovered tax but the average payment is 4 to 5 per cent.

Romney Close In New Poll

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Louis Harris poll says Republican Gov. George Romney of Michigan would trail President Johnson by just two percentage points if the 1968 presidential election were held now.

The poll, published yesterday in the Washington Post, said Johnson now holds a 51-49 percentage lead over Romney among voters questioned. The President led Romney by 56-44 per cent six weeks ago, Harris said.

The poll also said Romney was the first choice of Republican voters questioned as their 1968 presidential nominee.

New School's Double Sessions End

The good news was given the Novato Unified School District Board last night by Supt. James G. Bunker, who said the entire school should be completed within three weeks. Double sessions had been necessary because some of the classrooms were not ready for opening of the school year.

The board certified three school site purchases: San Marin Elementary at $130,242; Wilson junior high at $203,953, and Mill-Trumbull elementary at $110,328. It accepted the kindergarten and four-classroom additions to Rancho School, at a cost of $142,012.

The Novato Unified School District board also:

1. Received a report that 10,092 children had enrolled in school: 6,293 in elementary grades plus 26 waiting for kindergarten, 1,522 in junior high schools, and 2,251 in high school.
2. Accepted the low bid of Novato Laundry lower of two bidders, to do school laundry for this school year.
3. Authorized the purchase of a refrigerator for the high school cafeteria, not to cost more than $1,125.
4. Approved a student teaching agreement with San Francisco State College for the current school year.
5. Hired Dr. Richard Walker as school physician at $1,000 for the school year.

The totals included 1,217,177 passenger cars, 44,542 trucks and 6713 buses, as compared to 1,197,366 autos, 41,545 trucks and 5887 buses a year ago.

Eight Teen-Agers Hurt As Pick-Up Truck Rolls

Eight Marin City teen-agers were injured yesterday afternoon when a pick-up truck returning them from Tamalpais High School rolled over in the southbound lane of Almonte Boulevard, Homestead Valley, throwing several from the truck bed onto the roadway.

California Highway Patrol reported the driver, Daniel James Hayden, 18, of 909 Drake Avenue, crossed the dividing line on a curve 25 feet south of Rosemont Avenue.

He saw a car approaching, the patrol said, and swerved the truck sharply to the right. The truck then turned over onto its side on the north shoulder of the road.

Marie Washington, 16, of 76 Cole Drive, was in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with a neck sprain suffered in the crash. Hayden, who suffered a bruised right shoulder, and Donna Marie Quiett, 15, of 86 Buckelew Avenue, who suffered cuts and abrasions, were transfered to Kaiser Hospital in San Francisco and released after treatment.

The other five youngsters were all treated at Marin General. They are:

Mill Valley School Ideas Hearing Set

A public workshop on a proposal to limit three Mill Valley primary schools to the first three grades will be held by district trustee on Oct. 1, Supt. G. R. McConnell said today.

Time and place of the workshop will be announced.

The proposal, by the district's professional council, would limit Homestead, Marin Terrace and Old Mill schools to the first three grades. Fourth and fifth graders would be bused to Tamalpais Valley and Park schools.

The council proposed the change to reduce crowding of small school sites and duplication of facilities.

The board has not made a decision on the proposal, and agreed to the workshop to thrash it out.

Of 32 letters on the proposal received by the board, about one-quarter favored it, McConnell told the board last week.

Quick-Thinking Saves Repairman

A quick-thinking 14-year-old Mill Valley boy yesterday saved a repairman from serious injury when he almost was electrocuted.

Lee Anderson of J and J Appliances in San Rafael was working in the kitchen of the John A. Keenan home at 7 Underhill Road, when he hit a hot wire and could not release it.

The Keenan's son, Winston, heard Anderson's screams and quickly turned off the power. Anderson suffered minor burns and was treated by his own physician, police reported.

Winston is a freshman at Tamalpais High School.

Truth In Packaging Bill Is Resurrected

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The House Commerce Committee today reversed a vote of a week ago and revived the so-called truth-in-packaging bill that President Johnson has placed on his priority list of remaining legislation this session.

The committee resurrected the bill on a vote of 17 to 14 and then adjourned the meeting. Last week, with 14 members absent, the committee voted 13 to 6 to kill the measure.

San Geronimo Youth Hears Auto Charge

Amerigo Melvin Fumeo Jr., 18, of San Geronimo, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of car theft, and is to enter plea at 1:30 p.m. Friday.

Fumeo allegedly stole a 1956 Ford owned by Duke Jennsen of San Geronimo on Aug.29, then drove it to Sacramento.

Johnson Boosts Postage Rates

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson signed into law today a bill that will increase parcel post rates next January and provide gradual increases in the size and weight limits of packages.

Many members of Congress and others attended the signing ceremonies in the Cabinet Room, at which Johnson also proclaimed a National ZIP Code Week starting Oct. 10 and discussed over-all government finances.

Under the new law, parcel post rates will go up an average of 10 cents a package on Jan. 15. The increase is expected to boost Post Office Department revenues by $76 million and help bring pracel post operations to the break even point.

A Day At The Beauty Parlor Without Gossip

NO POLISH—A pedicure by Elayne Hesemeyer is part of the poodle-pampering process, and Beau stands patiently on three paws while Elayne cuts the toe nails on his fourth.

THIS IS PAMPERING?—Looking less than pleased with this part of the pampering, Beau made a lunge for the side of the tub, and Elayne held him down with one hand while scrubbing him with the other.

FLUFF DRY—Beau was ready for a cat-nap after his bath and Elayne propped him up while a dryer and a brush continue the renovation process.

Governor Orders Probe Of State Public Works Conflict Charges

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown today ordered a probe of charges of possible conflict of interest involving State Public Works Director John Erreca and a Merced contractor.

Brown's office said the governor ordered Transportation Agency Administrator Robert Bradford to "make an investigation and report promptly" on accusations contained in a 13-page letter from Imperial County Dist. Atty. James E. Hamilton.

Erreca immediately denied the charges, calling them "incredible."

Hamilton strongly implied that Erreca permitted Miles and Sons Trucking Service, Inc., of Merced, to violate numerous laws on highway jobs because of "personal friendship and financial interest."

Hamilton said projects worth $18.8 million were involved.

Miles and Sons is one of five defendants in a major trucking fraud case now undergoing preliminary hearing in El Centro.

Hamilton said Erreca and two members of Miles and Sons — W. W. Miles and Pat L. Nolet — were major stockholders of the Merced-Mariposa Savings and Loan Assn. before it merged Jan. 1, 1966 with Fresno Guarantee Savings and Loan Assn.

Hamilton said that from 1957 until the merger, Erreca and Nolet also were director of Merced-Mariposa. They still are on an advisory board of directors of the merged firm.

Hamilton said the relationship warrants an inquiry to determine whether Erreca's connections with Miles "have caused an undue influence on his actions as director of public works."

Erreca, 54, was appointed public works director by Gov. Brown in 1963. He previously served on the State Highway Commission starting in 1961, the year Miles and Sons branched into the construction business, Hamilton noted.

Erreca told the Los Angeles Times:

"It's incredible anybody would think I helped out Miles. The fact I've known Nolet for 30 years and have been on the same board of directors doesn't have a thing to do with my job. I certainly couldn't care whether Miles and Sons got contracts or not.

"For one thing, all contracts go to the lowest responsible bidder. For another, I've never signed one. My administrators do that."

In his letter to the governor, Hamilton posed these questions:

Why did Miles and Sons get contracts totaling $8.5 million when an official of the firm "had publicly and under oath stated to official representatives of the state that his company had never complied with the law and did not intend to in the future?"

Why did Erreca "permit the contractor to violate laws and the contracts entered into?"

What influence, if any, did the personal friendship and financial relationship between Erreca, Miles and Nolet have on "the directors action in awarding and enforcing the contract."

In the El Centro case, Miles and Sons is charged with criminal conspiracy to defraud working men and to violate the Labor Code and Public Utilities Code.

Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch said Miles and Sons are alleged to have forced union drivers to sign phony contracts that deprived them of their union protection. The contracts designated the drivers as "owner-operators," and the companies then avoided payment of union benefits.

Lynch also has charged the drivers were paid below union scale and below the prevailing wage scale set by the State Division of Highways.

Brown Proposes Expansion Of State Health Program

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A new state health policy including extension of California medical aid and a California Health Planning and Development Commission were proposed today by Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

Brown said he would introduce programs so that insufficient income wouldn't keep any Californian from "adequate medical care." The state medical assistance program covers persons on welfare and provides partial services for others with too much money to qualify for welfare but not enough to pay their own medical bills.

Brown's other health care proposals included:

Screen 1 million additional persons to see if they qualify for state medical aid.

Training poor persons and welfare recipients as non-professional health aides.

Health assistance for neglected children and broader immunization programs.

Improved health services in rural areas.

Pierre W. Joske, county parks and recreation director, outlined the county's plan to use state park bond money on park site acquisition.

Stevenson Memorabilia Display Set

An exhibit of memorabilia from the estate of Adlai E. Stevenson, never before seen by the public, will be shown next month at Mill Valley's new library, it was announced today.

John K. Robinson, United Nations Day chairman for Mill Valley, said photographs, documents, books and personal objects from the late ambassador's estate will be exhibited for three weeks in the gallery of the library.

Dr. C. Easton Rothwell, president of Mills College and executive secretary of the founding conference of the United Nations in San Francisco in 1946, also has agreed to loan items from his personal collection, Robinson said.

The items from Stevenson's estate are to be loaned by his son, John Fell Stevenson of San Francisco. Among them is a gold calendar presented by President Kennedy, inscribed with the days of the Cuban crisis, Oct. 16-28, 1962.

A reception at a preview of the exhibit will be held Oct. 23. United Nations Day is Oct. 24.

Forty persons have been invited to attend a meeting at Robinson's home Sunday to plan the exhibit.

LBJ Wonders How Much Has Congress Spent

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Johnson said today he can't get on with the job of making firm economic decisions until he finds out just how many billions Congress appropriates in excess of what he has asked.

He said the estimates of how much appropriations will exceed the budget run anywhere from a few hundred million dollars to as much as $8 billion.

Johnson urged Congress to complete action promptly on eight pending appropriation bills. Without mentioning a tax rise or any other specific action to produce added revenue, the President said, "As soon as we know what our outgo is going to be, we will take steps to see that our income meets it."

Johnson several times has chided Congress for exceeding his money requests for many federal programs at a time when he said he has attempted to reduce expenses as a contribution to the anti-inflation program.

Pending in the House are two anti-inflation measures to suspend tax incentives enjoyed by business.

Valley Group Discusses Fund For Education

San Geronimo Valley Assn. directors indicated last night they would like to see the Marietta Fry Larsen Memorial Fund used for an education project. ect.

Mrs. Larsen, long active in Marin County School affairs, died Aug. 29 of a heart attack. Both the memorial fund and a Marietta Fry Larsen Scholarship Fund have been established in her memory.

Directors discussed the possibility of having the memorial funds used for some project directly related to education. Previous discussions have indicated support for the creation of a memorial redwood grove at Lagunitas School.

House Approves Pensions Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has passed and sent to the Senate legislation that would boost the pensions of 1.8 million veterans, widows and dependent children by more than $100 million annually.

Brown Gives Replies To Rafferty's Quiz

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown today replied to a set of questions from Dr. Max Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction, by saying that he "refused to assume" the educator would support Republican Ronald Reagan for governor.

Rafferty, a registered Republican, sent a list of questions to both Brown and Reagan and said his endorsement for governor would be based on the candidates' answers. Rafferty collected the highest vote of any candidate for office in winning re-election to this nonpartisan post in the June 7 primary election.

"I do not believe either of us think that the complex problems of education in our state should be dealt with by a questionnaire," Brown wrote Rafferty.

"Many have said that the nature of your questions . . . suggest that you have all along intended to proceed with a conventional endorsement of your fellow party member with as much publicity as possible, but I refuse to make such an assumption," Brown said.

He didn't reply specifically to any of Rafferty's questions but included a statement on education made Sept. 13 in Los Angeles.

Rafferty's questions included pleas for regulations of student conduct at the University of California, controls on "the rising tide of obscenity," "experienced education activists, such as local school board members" on the State Board of Education, revising strict state school unification laws and giving more state money to schools along with relief for the property taxpayer.

Brown's statement earlier this month included plans to "raise state contributions to public schools and reduce property taxes so that the average state share of the cost of education will be about 50 per cent."

"I am confident that you and I share a justifiable pride in the fact that California is now second to no other state in the quality of education provided its youngsters," Brown wrote Rafferty.

He said his previous statements "speak in far greater detail and against a broader philosophic background than could possibly be achieved by answering any half-dozen specific questions."

Rafferty has scheduled a news conference Thursday in Los Angeles. He has indicated he will announce his endorsement of a candidate for governor at the conference.

Judge Orders Assess Case Trio To Jail

SAN DIEGO (UPI) —A Superior Court judge yesterday sentenced former Chief Deputy San Diego County Assessor John C. Cox to one to 14 years in prison for accepting bribes to lower property assessments for clients of favored tax consultants.

Two codefendants, tax consultants Ralph Yeo, 67, San Mateo, and Homer Goehler, 77, Portland, received one to three year sentences for conspiracy.

Three other high-ranking West Coast county officials were sentenced earlier this year in what one investigators called "the greatest example of government corruption since Teapot Dome."

They were Assessors Russell Wolden of San Francisco and Donald E. Feragen of Alameda counties, and A. J. (Tony) Steen of King County (Seattle), Wash. All were given prison sentences for accepting bribes.

John McQuilken, the San Diego County assessor named as a coconspirator but not a defendant in the indictment returned by the county grand jury committed suicide last Oct. 21.

Judge Verne O. Warner ordered the three men to jail at once after denying motions for a new trial and requests for bail pending appeal.

Cox was convicted last Aug. 29 by a Superior Court jury of accepting bribes of $250, $3,000 and $4,000 and a used Rolls Royce car valued at $5,000.

State Asks Bids On Beach Work

The State Department of General Services has called for bids on a project to construct new buildings and a 150-car parking lot at Stinson Beach for an estimated $155,000. Bids will be opened in Sacramento Oct. 11.

The project, for the State Division of Beaches and Parks, includes the parking lot, an office and lifeguard tower, two storage buildings and a residence with a one car garage.

Several structures will be razed, according to the general services department. A one story shop building will be relocated, and a sprinkler system will be installed.

TOWN WRESTLES TRASH PROBLEMS

Corte Madera Citizens Complain Present Pickup Service 'Completely Inadequate'

The Corte Madera Town Council last night was asked to consider a complete change in the town's trash pickup service instead of just a change from once a month one-stop pickup to annual house-to-house pickup.

Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher's report offered only the alternative of an annual city-wide pickup. But Usher suggested that homeowner groups be asked to consider the problem and make suggestions, and one homeowner at the meeting did.

"The present trash service in this town is completely inadequate," Byron D. White of 24 Staghound Passage told the council. "If you are going to ask the homeowners to consider alternatives, then you should have several alternatives to suggest, and the prospected costs of the alternatives. No one is going to keep trash around his house for a year!"

Others in the audience complained that the Mill Valley Refuse Service, with which the city contracts, refuses to pick up extra trash, even with an extra charge.

"When I called them to pick up some extra trash this week they told me they couldn't because their trucks aren't big enough to handle what they have now," one man said.

Usher said the company is obligated to pick up extra trash, and such complaints should be channeled through him.

In reviewing the need for a change from the present pickup at the recreation center, Usher said that each month the trash exceeds the containers and city employees have to clean up and cart off the excess at a cost of about $27 a month.

He said that the change to residence pickup, however, would probably increase illegal dumping.

Councilman Holmes S. Norville noted that the monthly pickup is a "fringe benefit" of the trash contract, and called it "a gift horse and a white elephant."

"I don't think the homeowners of Corte Madra are getting much benefit from it," he said.

The council told Usher to write to the homeowners groups and to plan a council session with their representatives.

Noting that the Marin County Board of Supervisors will have a hearing on prohibition of backyard burning tomorrow, the council voted to oppose prohibiting backyard burning "until the county provides a county dump."

The council endorsed the Marin Conservation League's criteria for planning uses of Mount Tamalpais, by 3-to-1. Councilman Harold B. Wagstaff was absent. Councilman Charles F. Pendleton voted against the endorsement.

"They want a master plan encompassing both public and private land, and I'm already disillusioned with the league in their attitude toward private lands inside Corte Madera," Pendleton said. "The league opposed development of the tide flats, but they didn't come up with any satisfactory suggestions on how the property owner should pay his property taxes."

The Corte Madera Town Council also:

1. Agreed to install brighter street lights on Redwood Avenue between Willow and Palm avenues.

2. Authorized Usher to attend the International City Magagers Assn. annual conference Oct. 23-27 in Phoenix, Ariz.

3. Asked Usher to report on amendments to the animal control ordinance proposed by the county which would raise rates for animal control services.

Union Solves Argument On Speaking Bid

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) —Was David J. McDonald snubbed?

No, said the top officers of the United Steelworkers Union (USW).

Yes, claimed a group of rank and filers.

But in the end, everybody was happy.

Donald Rarick of Irwin, Pa., moved that McDonald, who for 13 years served as president of the union, be invited to speak.

His proposal was in the form of an amendment to a resolution and ruled out of order. Rarick caught the convention by surprise since he unsuccessfully opposed McDonald for the union presidency in 1957.

The routine resolution was passed and President I. W. Abel explained that the executive board decided last week to discontinue the practice of inviting pensioned union officials to the convention.

McDonald, the union's second president who was defeated in a bitterly contested election last year by Abel, receives a $25,000 annual pension.

A new motion was presented by Buena T. Parker of Fontana, Calif., and a voice vote was indecisive. A standing vote also appeared to be split. Finally, Abel called on the "no" voters to change their minds and McDonald was invited by acclamation.

Whether he will accept is not known. He was not available for comment at his home in Palm Springs.

State Health Plan Charges Rise Sharply

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Hospital insurance coverage for California state employees is going to take a jump in cost on Jan. 1—as much as 15.6 per cent for some of them.

Stanley Fowler, chief deputy director of general services who is a representative of state employees on the board which administers the system and president of the board, said a few employees would have no increase.

For the others, the increase would range from a low of 4.7 per cent to the high figure of 15.6 per cent, Fowler said.

Approval of the new plan was made by the state employees retirement board at a meeting yesterday.

Reason for the approval of the increase was the general rise in costs of hospital insurance, which has been accelerating with the advent of Medicare and an increase in costs of most medical care.

Under the Meyers-Geddes Act, the state pays about $6 per month toward employee hospitalization insurance. At present, the highest family rate is usually about $28, or $22 for the employee.

Radium Capsule Search Starts

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — A passenger train bearing a scientist and electronic gear begins a three-state search tonight for a tiny radioactive capsule capable of inducing illness after 30-minutes contact.

The capsule of radium weighing .3 gram — there are 450 grams in a pound — was lost while being shipped from Fort Worth, Tex., to New York in August.

Bob Craig, 39, an Oklahoma Health Department engineer, said the special electronic gear could locate the radium if the train passes within 1,000 feet of the vial at 90 miles per hour.

The search will cover Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

Report On Drainage Due Committee Study

A seven-man committee was named at a Belvedere City Council meeting last night to make intensive study of the McCreary-Koretsky downtown Tiburon drainage report, then make recommendations on which of its proposals appears most feasible.

Mayor John R. Moore, who named the committees, said it is to meet at its own convenience, make its conclusions, then report to both Belvedere and Tiburon City Councils.

THOSE NAMED

Appointed were Councilmen Thomas S. Price and Edwin J. Drechsel; Emerson Best of Corinthian Island Property Owners' Assn.; Allan Steinau, president of Belvedere Lagoon Property Owners' Assn.; Martin Bramante, also with the lagoon association; John Rumsey, an engineer residing at 114 Bella Vista Avenue, Belvedere, and William L. Cavelli, Belvedere city manager who will be secretary of the group.

The $8,850 study by McCreary-Koretsky engineers, jointly financed by Belvedere, Tiburon, and the lagoon association, recommends a project that would divert winter runoff water from the Tiburon hills into either Richardson Bay or the Belvedere Cove instead of Belvedere Lagoon.

Mayor Moore told some 30 persons attending last night's meeting that a problem is that no one wants the water dumped in his area. He said if Belvedere could agree on one plan, such as a recommendation that excess water be carried all the way out into Racoon Strait, then the council and interested groups could go in a body to the Tiburon council and make that recommendation.

Dr. R. J. Millzner, representing San Francisco, Yacht Club which fronts on Belvedere Cove, said, "We're absolutely against discharge of water" in the cove. He said no study has been made of the effect of silting in the cove.

NO NECESSITY

He said there has been no necessity to dredge the cove since 1956.

Berton Jacobson, lagoon association secretary, contended there is no danger that drainage would create a silt problem in the cove. And even if such problem arose, he added, the association would "take care of it."

Emerson Best commented that dredging the cove now and then might be cheaper than carrying the water to Racoon Strait.

Also considered at the meeting was the storm drainage problem of the area between Tiburon Boulevard and Cove Road. City Engineer Albert H. Seimer suggested installation of a high-level culvert to handle water only at a flood level, taking it to the lagoon.

He said the culvert, which he estimated would cost $4,300, would only be a stop-gap measure, but added, "it could be the difference sometimes between flood and non-flood."

The culvert could be installed at the rear of property near a catch basin where Cove Road joins Tiburon Boulevard, he said.

Jacobson both verbally and in a letter said his association "vigorously" opposes any plan to divert additional water into the lagoon.

The city manager said much of the water would flow into the lagoon, anyway.

Mayor Moore said further study must be made to ascertain if state financial assistance would be available, and what property owner funds might be offered.

A completely automatic dial communications network, the world's first, will link 25,000 telephones at 500 Westinghouse Electric Corporation plants and offices.

Chavez Starts Grapes Boycott

DELANO (AP)—Cesar Chavez of the AFL-CIO United Farm Workers Organizing Committee (UFWOC) says a boycott has started against a grape-growing company that signed a collective bargaining agreement with the Teamsters Union.

"The Perelli-Minetti ranch has made its fatal mistake in signing the backdoor agreement while negotiations with UFWOC have been in progress," Chavez said Monday.

The 3½ year collective bargaining agreement between the Teamsters and A. Perelli-Minetti & Sons covering several hundred field workers in Kern and Tulare counties was announced Sunday by Fred Perelli-Minetti.

Hub Planners Favor Ban On Tree-Cutting In City

The San Anselmo planning commission last night recommended enactment of an ordinance which would prohibit cutting trees on all but developed single-family residential property.

A six-member committee was set up to draft the ordinance. It includes planning commissioner Kenneth Anderson, park and recreation commissioners Paul Brand and Nelson King, Recreation Director Andrew J. Snyder, and City Engineer Charles R. Leitzell, with one planning commissioner still to be appointed.

The commission unanimously recommended repeal of the general apartment district zoning provisions. No city property is now in this zone.

The commission set a public hearing Oct. 3 on rezoning property at 25 Ancho Vista Avenue from general commercial to apartment use. To eliminate a non-confirming use, as the property is now used for apartments. The commission initiated the rezoning. The property is owned by County Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen.

Public Meeting On Master Plan

A public informational meeting on the proposed $6,360,000 master plan for the Novato Sanitary District will be held at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

The master plan was first presented to the district board in July, 1965. It calls for annual improvement and expansion of facilities of the district until the year 2020 when the district is expected to take in five times as much in area and has 205,000 population. It was prepared by Jenks and Adamson, consulting engineers of Palo Alto.

San Anselmo School Board Appointment

The San Anselmo School District Board will appoint one of seven candidates to a vacancy on its membership today at 7:30 p.m. at Isabel Cook School.

The board will also consider a $111,644.20 claim for damages submitted by Mrs. Vida Lee Norton. Mrs. Norton's daughter, Victoria Lynn Norton, suffered a broken arm in an accident at Sleepy Hollow School in June.

Day School Expansion Is Asked

Pacific Day School at 40 Shell Road, Alto, which has an attendance of 35 children, preschool to third grade, wants to expand facilities to take in 55 children from pre-school to sixth grade.

Mrs. William Kelly of 326 Laverne Avenue, Homestead Valley, who directs the school, made this request yesterday at a hearing before county Zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill.

Cordill took the request under submission and announced he would give his decision within a week.

Alberto Ceccado of 44 Shell Road protested, not only the proposed expansion but also the present operation of the school. "Fifty kids will be a lot of noise," said Ceccado. "The traffic will increase."

In 1964 the Marin County Board of Supervisors granted the school a use permit for 35 students, with proviso that the school re-apply in two years, and that a lot to the east of the school, at 38 Shell Road, be acquired. Mrs. Kelly reported the school has an option to buy the lot and is ready to expand.

She said only about eight to 10 cars arrive each morning to take children to school, and there is plenty of parking for these cars and cars of six teachers.

Lagunitas Citizens Group Role Told

Lagunitas School District Citizens Advisory Committee, formed to advise on school facilities, will have its role explained at a meeting of the district board today at 8 p.m.

Also on the agenda will be preparations for the November bond issue election and teachers' contract revisions.

POLITICAL BRIEFS

Bagley Behind New Anti-Smut Measure

Promising to advocate new pornography legislation to counter "professional purveyors of smut," Assemblyman William T. Bagley has blasted Proposition 16, the so-called "clean amendment" to the state constitution, as "defective and misleading."

Predicting that the amendment would be declared unconstitutional if passed in the November election, he warned, "our present control laws will have been emasculated and a state of confusion and lack of control will prevail."

CAMPAIGN AIDE

J. Warnock Walsh Jr. of 272 Devon Drive, San Rafael, has been named campaign director of the San Francisco Committee to Re-elect Governor Brown. Walsh will supervise the headquarters of the Brown campaign at 1900 Van Ness Avenue.

Marin Democrats for Brown will hold a barbecue and dance at 6 p.m. Oct. 1 at the Muir Beach Tavern, Mill Valley.

Rail Merger Is Confirmed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission reaffirmed yesterday its approval of the New York Central and Pennsylvania railroads but asked for more testimony on steps being taken to protect three smaller, competing railroads.

The merger is scheduled to be effective Sept. 30.

The three competing railroads are Erie-Lackawanna, Delaware & Hudson and the Boston and Maine.

New Waterfront Park Proposed For Tiburon

Recommendation for a park area 200 feet deep between the Windjammer and the Caprice restaurants along Tiburon's waterfront has been made by the Tiburon Parks and Recreation Commission.

The commission further recommended by unanimous vote that the park area contain a scenic drive approximately 40 feet wide, that a limited portion of the water area fronting the park be used as a port of call, and that walkways and benches, ground cover and low planting be included in the scheme. No permanent berthing facilities would be included, and no buildings of any kind permitted.

Next meeting of the commission will be at 8:15 p.m. Oct. 6, when discussion of the downtown sketch plan will be on the agenda.

Boy's Body Found In Submerged Car

PACIFICA (AP) — The body of Bruce Clyde Taylor, 17, of Daly City, was found Sunday in his partially submerged car at the foot of a 600-foot seaside cliff in this San Francisco suburb.

Friends had been searching for him since his disappearance Thursday night.

Memorial To Blackie Due Unveiling

Blackie, Tiburon's incredibly swaybacked horse, will live again in a memorial plaque to be unveiled with due pomp and ceremony next month.

To a fanfare of trumpets, the plaque will be uncovered at 10:30 a.m. Oct. 1 close by the pasture where the old horse and friend of two generations lived out his last days. He died last Feb. 26.

The State Division of Highways gave permission to place it beside Tiburon Boulevard opposite Jefferson Drive.

"We are holding the ceremony Saturday so all the school children who knew Blackie can attend," said William L. Howell, president of the Tiburon Peninsula Chamber of Commerce, which organized the drive for funds for the memorial.

"The project has cost about $750 and all contributors have been invited to attend," he said.

Miss Miller Bound Over In Marin City Slaying

Dorothy Nell Miller, 23, was bound over to Marin Superior Court on a charge of murder yesterday following a preliminary hearing in Marin Municipal Court.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Michael Dufficy said arraignment will probably be at 9:30 a.m. Sept. 27.

Miss Miller, of 69 Cole Drive, Marin City, allegedly knifed to death Bernadine Nettles, 29, of 239 Drake Avenue, Marin City, at the Oaktree restaurant in Manzanita Sept. 2.

James Willie Johnson of Building 29, Hilarita Housing, Tiburon, testified in yesterday's hearing before Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. that he escorted Mrs. Nettles to the restaurant. He said Miss Miller approached their table, cursed Mrs. Nettles repeatedly, then drew a knife from under her blouse and stabbed the victim.

Dr. John H. Manwaring, who conducted an autopsy, said the victim was stabbed three times, but died of a knife thrust into the left chest and down through the heart.

No murder weapon was found. Dorothy Miller is being held in county jail without bail.

AFRICAN TRAVELS

Going From Mbale To The Safari Club

Tenth in a series on just-completed travels through East Africa, South Africa and Rhodesia.

By BARBARA HOSMER

In the verdant foothills shadowed by Mt. Elgon, the town of Mbale lies quiet on a Sunday, strong sun drying it from the downpour of the night before. The main street, packed-dirt and broad, runs along a ridge with the town falling away down one sloping side, and is empty, its few glass-fronted shops closed.

The Barclay's Bank, modern Agricultural Cooperative and elegant buildings of this east Uganda district capital, a center of rich farmland, are likewise barred.

But two blocks below, hefty African women in their brightest prints stroll sociably with their men and children, stopping to poke through an occasional Indian duka. Crammed inside these tiny shops, tended by children and wife of the Indian shopkeeper, are cloth bolts of all colors, cheap cotton shirts and print dresses, plastic sandals for men and various styles of plastic pumps for women. Others vend grain from open crates, medicines and European or American cosmetics from shelves, transistor radios and fresh produce.

But Sunday business is slight, most people visiting in the streets or strolling the high concrete walks. Others cluster into dim pool-hall stalls that blare radio and record music and offer pop, beer and a few pinball machines.

Most of the action is in the town marketplace and bus depot — an adjacent sandlot where crowds load and unload bundles and bicycles in the exhaust fumes, and visit or sell chickens, bananas, gourds, or baskets that they've brought to town from their shamba.

INSIDE HIGH plank walls of the market open stalls are leased and entirely run by Africans—no Indian shopkeepers allowed—and they are courteous and very low pressure merchants. "Jambo," they greet the browser and turn back to packing or arranging more of their wares.

Everything an African family needs can be bartered for in this open-air supermarket. Whole sections offer odorous shriveled dried fish, chunks of meat including rows of hooves and heads, shoes, underclothes for the whole family, enamel pans that are the African dinnerware, kerosene lamps made from tin cans, strings of gaudy beads, tomatoes, potatoes, corn, beans, fruits and grains. Also buckets, baskets, thick hemp ropes and attractive raw wood furniture standing in shavings from its own construction, while the merchants hammer and saw more, the sawdust pungent in the sunshine. The upholsterers fit fine cloth over matched chair seats in the next stall. Housewives browse through the vegetable produce and bundle their purchases on their heads.

Not far, two movie houses advertise their bills—an American Western featuring African favorite Jim Brown, and an Indian film in Hindi. A few blocks away a Protestant church is filled for morning services, and a half mile's walk reveals another world of stately two-story homes set in wide lawns and gright bouganvillea, hibiscus and scented frangipani growth behind rows of trees lining the grassy lanes and pavement. In some drives stand newly washed cars, and the scene is lush, lazy, peaceful and totally attractive—more "Hillsborough" than equatorial Africa.

Yet a closer look reveals that many of the homes are empty, their European owners gone and their prospective African or Indian masters not quite up to them. Tennis courts are vacant.

BY WAY OF CONTRAST, white faces abound in the tourist-Africa haunts of Treetops and the Mount Kenya Safari Club, situated in the Kenya mountains north of Nairobi. Crossing the famous highlands where the Mau Mau terrorized the white farmers in the early fifties, the traveler reaches the Outspan Hotel to find it jammed with Americans and Europeans — surprising after seeing relatively few travelers in the countryside to the west.

After a belt-busting buffet lunch, they are loaded into Volkswagen buses for a 15-minute ride to the national park entrance to disembark and walk into Treetops. Col. John Cook and his elephant gun accompany the group on the five-minute walk into the forest and up the narrow staircase to Treetops. Some 60 guests are finally stuffed into the elevated wooden honeycomb which became world famous, when in 1962 Elizabeth II went up a Princess and came down a Queen, her father, the King, dying the February night she and Prince Philip visited the Kenya waterhole.

Of course the present Treetops is not a real tree at all, the original having been burned by the Mau Mau. The tiny double rooms are ship-like in their compactness, with only the three balconies and dining room and lounge giving one room to stretch.

"Once you go up, do not come down again until we leave at 7 tomorrow morning," the visitor is warned. Soon tea is distributed on the roof with scones and cakes, and the usual complement of grey-furred baboons arrives to share it and race up and down the balconies screeching.

NIGHT COMES ON and a few warthogs and water birds come to plow around the edge of the muddy waterhole that supports so much wildlife. Finally buffalo draw in from the circle of trees, and the people settle into weathered old

Working Mother Part 2

Harder On Father Than On Children

By LOIS BENJAMIN

(Second of 12 articles based on the book, "So You Want to Be a Working Mother!")

I'm convinced that the husbands, not children, are the ones who make the sacrifices when women have jobs as well as homes to keep.

It is a rare working wife who can beat her husband home by more than an hour every night; but if you're lucky enough to do so, you have a lot going for you. It gives you a chance to be with the children, to settle them down into pre-bedtime calm, and to settle yourself into something resembling a relaxed, cuddly wife waiting to greet and comfort a tired husband.

Besides beating her husband home, there are ways a working wife can make life easier on her marriage. We start out with one tremendous emotional ace in the hole. We understand. The wife's day is made up of the same kind of aggravations as her husband's — and the same satisfactions.

Money is a complicated problem in any marriage, but in a two-check family it seems to be knottier. Besides woes of budget balancing, you get into questions about whose money should pay for what, whether one salary ought to be socked away, whether you're entitled to splurge on a new hat or whether your husband has a right to bawl you out anyway.

Some working wives bank their checks and live off their husbands' salaries. One two-paycheck household earmarks the wife's salary for extras — anything beyond food, clothing, shelter, school tuition, doctors' bills and taxes.

And there are those who count on two incomes as a continuing fact of life. We don't expect to lose either, and we do expect to use both.

Oddly enough, it is apt to raise even more hob than the other systems, for the trouble is that it traps the family into depending on Mommy's income for the style to which they become accustomed.

It leads to a change in your husband's attitude toward his own job. Even a man in a highly competitive business like advertising or sales can relax a little about his job if he knows he can count on his wife's not losing hers. The comfort provided by her salary gives him an air of self-assurance on the job.

THE OTHER side of this coin is that a man who goes through life leaning on his wife's earning power may let it exert too great an influence on his own career. What if a job transfer comes up? Will they net as much money in the new post, even with a raise for him, if she can't find as good a job there? If he turns down the transfer, will the company hold it against him?

Job portability is a much more valuable asset for a wife than you might think. Teaching, social work, nursing, secretarial skills can all be packed along with the furniture and put to use almost anywhere.

With working wives, there are two sex problems that don't exist with non-working wives: They are always too tired and they've got to be somewhere in six and a half minutes.

Certainly it helps that we care about our looks; it also helps that we have more to say at the dinner table than the wife who stayed home all day and watched Secret Storm.

And it helps to rest as often as you can. Instead of spending weekday lunch hours on shopping trips, have you ever thought of going to the ladies' room for a half hour and putting your feet up instead?

I can't remember the last time I served dinner for two at 10 p.m. on a week night, with wine, candlelight and a soft record—but it's a great idea.

So is spending your one-night-a week-out at a small, dark restaurant, instead of a party or a movie, and then going home early.

As for me, I'd rather be married than President.

Youngster Should Learn To Spell 'Married' Before She Becomes It

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teen-age questions to Youth Asked For It, care of Helen Help Us!, the Independent-Journal.

DEAR HELEN:

I am 15 and so is the boy I am going with for two years. Just about 16.

We love each other much and plan to get marriade, but here is my question. What state will marry 15-year-olds? Without parents' permission? — WANTS TO GET MARRIADE

DEAR WTGM:

No state in the Union allows 15-year-old males to be married without parental consent, and only one state sets its legal marriage age at 16 for boys, 14 for girls.

I won't tell you which one because you aren't ready! Among other things learn to SPELL "married" before you become it!—H.

DEAR HELEN:

If anyone has an answer, please give!

Our chlorinated swimming pool turned my blonde hair green and it wouldn't come out, so I had to bleach it. I have been bleaching my hair at home for two years with the best stuff on the market, supposedly.

Now I am trying to let it grow, and the ends won't take color. They are dry and white-looking. I try just doing the roots, but then I have two colors. Help!!!—OVERBLEACHED

DEAR OVER:

Your best bet is to visit a beauty parlor, or a beauty college, and find out the extent of the damage. But if you're somewhat broke, then send a strand of your hair to the cosmetic company people whose bleach you have used, tell them your problem, and they'll recommend the proper oil conditioner and additional treatment.

Your hair has probably become spongy and porous and needs a "filler" (conditioner" to help bring it back to life.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I keep my sisters' and brothers' kids so much they call me Mamma. Which is all right. But my sisters and brothers take me for granted. They figure I can baby-sit any time, and for free.

How do I tell them I don't want to?—SIS.

DEAR SIS:

Take a deep breath and say, "My baby sitting rates are 50 cents an hour" (or whatever the rates are in your town). If your mother doesn't back you up, then perhaps SHE should spell you with the kids.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I was at a party at a friend's house not long ago. A sign right up on the wall in every room said, "No smoking please." Now really, isn't this kind of crusading a little far out?—PUT OUT

DEAR P.O.:

. . . Not if someone in the house has an allergy to tobacco smoke. Consider before you condemn, chum.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I am 18. About six months ago I met a 14-year-old boy. I look about 14 and he looks about 18. He is wonderful and I love him, but I don't think he loves me.

I am afraid my older friends might find out about him and me, but my biggest problems are, how do I tell a 14-year-old boy that he is to be a father, and how do I tell my parents that I am expecting the baby of a 14-year-old boy?—CRADLE ROBBER TO CRADLE ROCKER

DEAR C.R. TO C.R.:

My IGAP ("I'm Guessing Again Perception") tells me you aren't for real: Your signature is too clever—I'll bet it came first, and you made up a story to fit, right?

Just in case I'm wrong, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and I'll send you a list of homes for unwed mothers in your area.—H.

TRAVELING IN AFRICA

BOAC airplane seats, draw airplane blankets over their knees against the cold night, and resign themselves to an occasional whisper lest the animals take off.

Dinner sees all seated at long tables with trolleys down the center to send full plates of soup and fillets to the diners, speaking in French, German, Italian and English. Strawberries and cream finish the repast and, bundled against the cold and impending dampness, the guests tiptoe outside to sit above the animals who come to drink. More buffalo arrive, snorting and blowing, and finally elephants. The word passes inside to where the less hardy and the by now "old hands" are talking amiably and swapping animal tales, and they too check the ground action, where elephants and buffalo "elbow" for pond space.

FINALLY, about 11 o'clock, a rhino ambled into the range of the floodlights and the plot thickened, elephants and buffalo backing and maneuvering around the dust-covered beast who licked up the salt along the ground sprinkled by the African help at Treetops.

Some retired and wakened only to hear the heavy rain falling on the forest while other who braved it all night in the BOAC seats overlooking the waterhole, appeared at 7 o'clock coffee with eyes red-rimmed and owlish from peering into the gloom. Cook and the secretary tallied and entered the official animal count into the log book. There were 18 elephants, 3 rhinos, 15 warthogs, 4 hyena, 7 waterbuck, 8 bushbuck, 5 giant forest hogs, and one guest spotted a spider in the ladies' room.

MT. KENYA SAFARI CLUB is a beautiful American style resort with a patina of Hollywood-African—lion skin on the floor, spears on the wall, zebra skins sprinkled here and there and African drum coffee tables in the lounge looking out toward Mt. Kenya, whose 17,000-foot peak fades in and out of the clouds at random. Forested mountains serve as its setting with lawns extending toward its nether reaches.

An oblong swimming pool is surrounded with lounge furniture on a terrace and below is a bird pond stocked with cranes, saddlebill storks, swans, black and white; and lesser birdfolk. Crested cranes wander at will about the lawns, but when two ducks decided to go swimming with two teenage girls in the human-pool, they were readily sent packing by the staff.

Warmed by the sun but cold at the 6500-foot elevation, Mt. Kenya Safari Club rooms are heated only with log fires which smolder and smoke all night, sending a fine layer of ashes across the pool by morning and giving the guests' clothes a campfire tang. While dining facilities are remodeled, cooking is done in a rambling green tent on the lawn in front of the main hotel, and the waiters race back and forth in tennis shoes carrying appetizer, soup, fish, entree and dessert courses up and downstairs. A fairly elegant air is maintained in the dining room, yet a sideboard held breakfast food boxes and jam jars in plain view. Perhaps because of the extensive remodeling this kind of elegant planning and half-way execution was general throughout the famed club, which was set up by William Holden and Ray Ryan, and run by a Swiss hotel crew.

Expensive, attractive, comfortable, and un-African, it offers a pleasant refuge after dusty safaris, a glamorous setting for Hollywood types and rest-seeking Americans, and a superb view of Mt. Kenya and its forested lower slopes.

COSTUMES AND STAGE SET—Sergei Temoff examines model of stage set for the Russian opera "Yolanta" as his wife looks over costume she designed for Mrs. Inda Kamendrovsky, lead singer in the production which will be staged in Angelico Hall of Dominican College Monday night.

RUSSIAN REPERTOIRE

Dancer, Choreographer Expands In New Career

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

For Sergei Temoff, 64, a whole new career started in the last five years is rapidly expanding.

Director, actor, ballet-master, dancer and choreographer, Temoff is the artistic director of the Russian-American Musical Assn. of San Francisco, which will stage Tschaikovsky's one-act opera "Yolanta" Monday at 8 p.m. in Angelico Hall of Dominican College, San Rafael.

Temoff and his wife Vera, who designs and makes all costumes for the association, are now residents of Marin, having bought a home on Mountain View Avenue in San Anselmo six months ago.

DANCING ENERGY

Until a year ago, Temoff danced; now he devotes all of his efforts to the association's productions.

"Dancing gives you the energy to do anything you want to for the rest of your life," he says.

The Marin performance will be the association's first venture outside of San Francisco. Others are planned in Seattle, Los Angeles, and Portland, Ore.

The association was founded five years ago by Temoff and the late Paul Tarnavsky as a non-profit cultural group. Its purpose is to bring the classic Russian repertoire of operas, ballets and concerts to the American people in their original Russian versions and language.

The association now has 25 members, about 20 of whom are singers, including some interested Americans who learn to speak and sing Russian phoenetically.

GLAMOROUS CAREER

Temoff has had a long and glamorous career on the stage.

As a young student in czarist Russia he was so enchanted by the Bolshoi theater-ballet that he gave up plans for a career as a doctor to become a ballet dancer.

When the Communist revolution cut off his career in Mexico, he fled to Harbin, Manchuria, where the Russian Grand Opera was at the time, and became principal dancer with the company.

There he formed the Chat Noir Theater, a variety show of ballet, comedy and dramatic and operatic sketches, and came to the United States. On seeing him in Hollywood, Samuel Goldwyn gave him a contract as an actor with United Artists.

DRAMATIC ROLES

Until sound came to the movies, affecting his career because of his accent, he played dramatic roles with stars such as John Barrymore, Frederick March, Norma Talmadge and Mary Pickford, acting at the same time as ballet coach and partner to famous actresses in pictures with ballet scenes.

Three of these were Loretta Young, Marion Davies and Dolores Del Rio. He also was a partner of actress-dancer and TV star Cyd Charisse.

Temoff joined the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo and later the New York City Ballet, and for five years danced with the Metropolitan Opera Company.

In 1943 he came to San Francisco and founded his Sergei Temoff Ballet School.

"At one time I danced with the San Francisco Opera Company in Los Angeles," he recalled, "when it was known as the California Opera Company with a company in Los Angeles and one in San Francisco under Merola."

WIFE DESIGNS

Temoff's wife, Vera, studied ballet for many years but never appeared on the stage, instead specializing in the design and creation of costumes. The Temoffs have no children.

Most of the performances of the Russian-American Association have been given in the Nourse Auditorium and in the theaters in the Russian and Latvian centers in San Francisco.

Boys Club Hires Program Chief

A 34-year-old former member of the Brooklyn Dodgers has been hired as full-time program director for the Boys Club of Southern Marin, club director Harold I. Jackson announced today.

Manford Chandler was a member of a boys club as a youth, and has been active in boys clubs in San Diego, Jackson said.

The club, in Marin City, is expected to open next week, he said.

No Topic, No Session

The Belvedere Planning Commission was scheduled to meet last night, but "we had nothing to talk about," said chairman George V. Banning, "so we did not meet." Next meeting is slated for Oct. 17.

Lake Nicaragua, Nicaragua, is the world's only freshwater home for swordfish and man-eating sharks.

County Education Board Dumps Pre-School Plan

For three and a quarter hours last night the county schools staff presented its case for a complex county-wide pre-school and children's center program, but the Marin County Board of Education voted it down for the second time, 4-3.

Again the negative votes were cast by board President Patrick W. Pollock of San Anselmo, Arnold T. Dolcini of Northwest Marin, James A. Carroll of Ross, and Lee C. Richardson Jr. of Inverness. Voting for the measure were Mrs. Edith Kanoff of Novato, Mrs. Adele J. Alpers of San Rafael, and Glen E. Robinson of Mill Valley.

PROGRAM PLAN

After the ballot, Richardson moved successfully that the staff be instructed to prepare for board sponsorship a program in Sausalito equal to the pre-school program there which the Sausalito School District has been running for over a year.

David E. Freedheim, Sausalito board president, said Sausalito decided to throw its lot with the county-wide "canopy" program on assurance by the county schools office that it would be approved. Pollock said he had promised Freedheim he would strive to assure the survival of the Sausalito program regardless of the fate of the "canopy" program.

Sausalito Supt. Phillip W. Schneider said he hoped County Supt. Virgil S. Hollis would try to get the board of supervisors to over-ride the board of education to provide for the county-wide program.

No one present knew, however, whether the board of supervisors has authority to do this. Hollis said his office would seek an opinion on the matter from County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney.

Maloney told the Independent-Journal today he thought Hollis can legally revive the Sausalito program himself, and that the supervisors probably can sponsor the canopy program. He added that he would have to study the entire proposal before issuing a final opinion.

CHILD CARE

The county schools staff, principally Asst. Supt. Robert F. Stannard, offered testimony on the success of the Sausalito program from Freedheim and Schneider; on the need for child care facilities of a children's center from Annie Jamison, supervisor in the County Social Services Department, and on the need for pre-school education from Ira Okun, superintendent of Marin Juvenile Hall.

But Pollock and Dolcini were unwilling to sanction a program that would cost almost $1,200 per child. Carroll remained unconvinced that the need for pre-schooling and child care existed in North Marin. Richardson said he was against pre-schooling, period.

The project which the board voted down would provide for 247 children at a total cost of $291,796, of at a rate of $1,181 per child. Eligibility for the project would be determined by the economic status of a child's family, based on poverty criteria established in federal, state and county programs.

Schneider was pessimistic about the future of the pre-school program in his district. The pre-school staff in Sausalito has already lost two people, he said, and could lose more soon.

Corpsman Acquitted Of Murder Charge

MWANZA, Tanzania (UPI)--Peace Corpsman William Haywood Kinsey of Washington, N.C., yesterday was to acquitted of charges he beat his attractive young wife to death on a rocky hillside because of her suspected infidelity.

Kinsay was freed from custody immediately by Judge Harold Platt and said he would return to the United States later this week.

REPUBLICANS ISSUE VIET WHITE PAPER

No Specific Proposals Are Offered, Attempts To Explain How U.S. Arrived At Position

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republicans criticize Johnson administration Viet Nam policies but say they don't plan to tell the President how to run the war.

Rep. Charles E. Goodell of New York made this clear today in discussing a white paper issued last night by the House Republican Conference. It said administration policy in Viet Nam "has been uncertain and subject to abrupt change."

"The urgent immediate question is how to end this war more speedily and at smaller cost while safeguarding the independence and freedom of South Viet Nam," the white paper said.

But the 32-page report offered no specific proposals, and Goodell, chairman of the GOP's Committee on Planning and Research, emphasized "that is not the purpose of the paper.

"Our purpose was to put the whole situation into perspective by means of a scholarly study explaining how we got to where we are now," the New York Republican said.

But Goodell said any specific GOP proposals would be confined to ideas previously supported by party groups, such as an all-star peace conference, quarantine of the port of Haiphong and increased bombing of military targets in North Viet Nam.

The House GOP report, an updated version of a study made last year, traced U. S. involvement in Viet Nam from 1950, when it said the Truman administration agreed to send economic and military equipment to what was then French Indochina.

During the Johnson administration, it went on, "the United States has become a full-fledged combatant in a conflict that is becoming bigger than the Korean War."

The report said "the objective of the United States in Viet Nam has become clouded" and made these criticisms of administration policy:

"The administration has consistenly held off needed military action until the situation in South Viet Nam reached a state of acute deterioration. It has failed to use the economic power of the nation in the conflict."

"The administration has not told the American people the truth about the military situation in Viet Nam, about the mission of American troops, about war costs, about casualties, about peace feelers. This studied deception strikes at the vitals of the system of popular government."

"The result of President Johnson's policies, according to leading administration spokesmen, has been a stalemate with neither victory nor satisfactory peace in prospect."

Call Jury Deliberates

SAN FRANCISC O (AP) — Jurors resume deliberations today on Normal Call, charged with assassinating a labor leader to cover up thefts from a welfare fund.

After a 45-minute charge yesterday from Judge Norman Elkington, the jury studied evidence from the six-week trial for 7 hours and 33 minutes without reaching a conclusion.

Call, 46, is charged with conspiracy to commit murder and murder in the shotgun killing on a San Francisco street April 5 of Dow Wilson, 44, AFL-CIO Painters Union local leader here.

The prosecution contends that Call, a Sacramento painting contractor, stole there from a Painters Union local's welfare fund of which he was an employer trustee.

Missing Dingo Found; Dies

SAN MATEO (AP)—Princess, an aging dingo who chewed her way out of a box to freedom, was recaptured yesterday and died minutes later. It could have been fright or old age.

The Australian wild dog was either 10 or 12 years old, said Roy West, Alum Rock Park Zoo superintendent in San Jose.

She had been given by the zoo to Dick Robinson, a Los Angeles animal show producer, and escaped while being trucked to San Francisco Airport.

For 48 hours Princess was free but then she was spotted and chased for 90 minutes before being captured by a posse from the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Police Getting Aid In Percy Death Probe

KENILWORTH, Ill. (AP) — A dozen investigators from the state attorney's office were assigned today to assist the 14-man Kenilworth police force and sheriff's police in finding the killer of Valerie Percy, 21, daughter of Republican leader Charles H. Percy.

Also assigned to the case were two agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and detectives of the Chicago homicide and burglary divisions. The state attorney's men established a command post at the Kenilworth police station and were assigned 32 leads to investigate. The FBI was expected to follow up leads involving out-of-state suspects.

Valerie was stabbed and beaten to death Sunday in the Percy home in Kenilworth on Chicago's Lake Michigan north shore.

Chief Robert M. Daley of the Kenilworth police said, "We don't have a lead to go on," but he added: "I think this crime is going to be solved—and we are going to do it by leg work and perseverance."

Daley said that 44 persons have been questioned since the girl's body was found at 5 a.m. Sunday. He also said that Percy, at the request of police, has prepared a list of 100 persons he believes should be questioned.

Those questioned included, Daley said, persons who have known the Percy family, employees of the Percys, former employees, political workers and Valerie's boy friends.

Electric Car Is Confirmed

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. will test a prototype electric-powered car in England next year and later introduce it in the United States.

Company confirmation of this came today in the wake of speculation last week that Ford had made a breakthrough toward a battery-powered car capable of meeting traffic requirements.

Ford is experimenting with a lightweight, sodium-sulfide battery and said it might prove more economical than a gasoline-powered engine.

A Ford spokesman declined to be drawn into speculation when a battery-powered car might become competitive or how far one battery charge would take it.

Battery Stolen

Coleman H. Fitzgerald, of 539 West Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley, reported to police today the theft of a six-volt battery from his car sometime during the night. His car was parked in front of his house, he said.

Today is Tuesday, Sept. 20, the 263rd day of 1966 with 102 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter; the morning stars are Saturn, Jupiter, Mars and Venus, the evening star is Saturn.

American scholar Herbert Putnam was born on this day in 1861.

On this day in history:

In 1519, Portuguese navigator Ferdinand Magellan began a voyage to find a western passage to the Indies. Although Magellan died, one of the five vessels completed the trip around the world.

In 1960, the United Nations admitted 13 African nations in the opening of a turbulent General Assembly session attended by several Communist leaders, including Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

A thought for the day—English philosopher John Locke said: "It is one thing to show a man he is in error, and another to put him in possession of truth."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

Returning Partner's Suit Basic Law For Putting Up Good Defense

In most notrump hands the best defense is to return your partner's suit, and anybody who casts doubt on this policy is a public enemy.

They may put my picture up in the post office, but I must still point out that there are times when you must switch from partner's good suit to a poor suit.

South shrewdly overtook dummy's nine of hearts with the king at the first trick and led the nine of clubs for a finesse. East held off, and South led another club.

EAST FLUBS

That was the big moment, but East muffed it by returning his other heart.

West could take the ace of hearts but then there was no way to stop declarer from taking nine tricks. South was sure to get two hearts, two diamonds and five clubs.

CUT COMMUNICATIONS

South takes the ace of diamonds but cannot afford to cash the king because then the defenders would get the ace of hearts, a club, two spades and two diamonds.

After taking just one diamond trick South leads a heart. West takes the ace of hearts and leads a heart to dummy's queen.

Dummy's last three cards are the three spades, and West saves the ace of spades and two good hearts to defeat the contract.

Since East can count five club tricks and two hearts for declarer his best chance is to cut communications between the North and South hands.

A spade return cannot take three spades out of the dummy, but a diamond lead can take the only diamond out of dummy.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two diamonds. The only alternative is to respond one notrump. Since you have four-card support for diamonds and a side doubleton, the raise is a better description of your hand.

I-J Newspaperboys learn the route to success

The I-J's on the way—and so is he!

Perhaps it's the daily habit of delivering the news right to your home that gives I-J carriers, like him, a sense of direction in life.

Maybe it's the feeling of managing a route, where each boy is his own boss. Or the idea of collecting and banking money each month. Or maybe the channeling of energy into responsible effort . . . serving others.

It could be the solid training, too, which these boys receive from our experienced circulation advisors.

But one thing's certain: these boys develop AIMS and GOALS often a lot larger than the boys themselves. The aim to serve . . . the goal of a college education, for instance . . . with savings to attain it. They discover that delivering the paper on time, in place, can lead to the larger ends of independence and initiative.

Travelers Say Mme. Sun's Home Rifled

HONG KONG (AP)—Arrivals from Red China reported today that Red Guards ransacked the Shanghai house of Mme. Sun Yat-sen, widow of the founder of modern China, and demanded that she hand over all her property.

The travelers said wall posters accused Mme. Sun, who is a vice president of the Communist Chinese regime, of leading a luxurious life in contrast to that of farmers and workers.

The travelers did not know whether Mme. Sun was in her Shanghai house when the militant young Chinese invaded it or whether anything was taken. Nor did they know when the invasion occurred.

Mme. Sun, the former Soong Ching-ling, is a sister of Mme. Chiang Kai-shek, the wife of Nationlist China's president.

She has been a staunch supporter of the Communist regime and her prestige as Dr. Sun's widow has meant much to the Reds.

Contested Election Brings New Ideas For Legislation

Assemblyman William T. Bagley of San Rafael, one of two attorneys who successfully represented an El Dorado County supervisor in a contested supervisorial election, announced yesterday that he has two ideas for legislation as a result of the trial.

Bagley and another attorney represented South Lake Tahoe Mayor Jerry Martin, who was elected supervisor for El Dorado County's Fifth District in June.

Tommy Stewart contested the election, claiming that redistricting of the county two weeks before the close of registration could have affected the outcome.

Stewart had trailed by 17 votes, but after four days of recount, he trailed by 25 votes, Bagley said. "With this situation facing him, the contestant quit and the defendant, Jerry Martin, was declared the winner."

Bagley said because the situation was caused by redistricting by supervisors immediately before the clase of registration, he will introduce two measures in the 1967 session of the legislature.

The first will be an amendment prohibiting redistricting a county within 120 days prior to the close of registration, he said. "Such a prohibition would at least allow the voters, and the county clerk and other officials, to become informed and to inform the citizenry as to where the districts are and where the new precincts are."

The second will be an amendment to the election code requiring some type of notice to be posted and published informing voters of new supervisorial districts and of the formation of new precincts "long enough prior to the close of registration so that voters can appropriately re-register," he said.

White Cane Days Begin Sept. 30

San Rafael Lions Club will hold its annual fund-raising "White Cane Days" Sept. 30 - Oct. 1.

Members and Boy Scouts will solicit funds and hand out miniature white canes with tags during the two-day event to help finance non-profit institutions serving the blind.

George Oliva, chairman for the drive, reported last year's revenue went to buy Braille typewriters, aided Guide Dogs for the Blind and school vision programs.

As well as these and other projects, Oliva said the money this year will help support the Lions eye bank at the Presbyterian Hospital in San Francisco, which is available to any Marin County resident.

Almost halt of Nzw York City's residents were born abroad or are the children of immigrants.

Ike Considered Korea A-Weapons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower says he was prepared to do "whatever was necessary to win" the Korean War, including using nuclear weapons.

Eisenhower appeared in a taped interview shown last night over stations of the National Educational Television Network.

On the program, as he wrote in his book, "The White House Years," his memoir on the presidency published in 1963, Eisenhower said he let it be known to the enemy in Korea "through several channels" that he was prepared to use atomic weapons, and that the knowledge shortened the war.

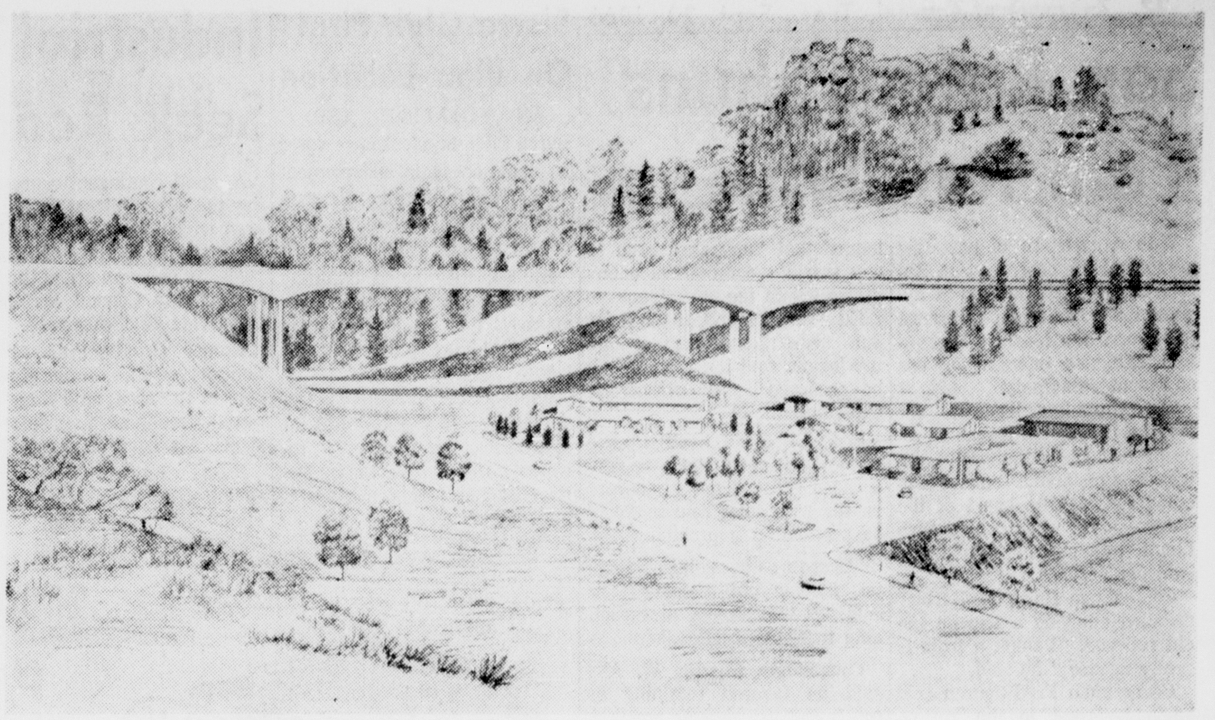
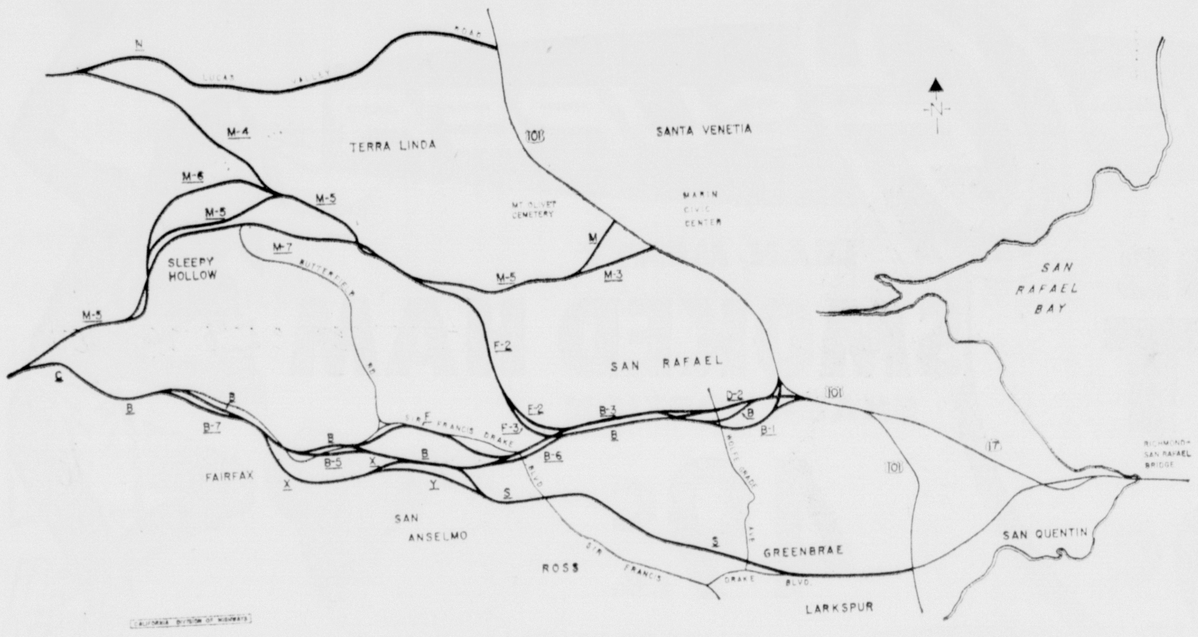
MIRACLE MILE TREATMENT — The central route proposed by the state for Highway 17 extension would follow the Miracle Mile, taking either home property on the south side or commercial property on the north side. This is how the division believes the road would look with the latter alternative. (Story on Page 1.)



DEPRESSED FREEWAY—One of the possibilities for Route 17 development presented by the State Division of Highway calls for a depressed freeway along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard through San Anselmo and Fairfax. This is how it would look, as envisioned by the highways division, as it passed the Sunny Hills shopping center in San Anselmo.



POSSIBLE ROUTES FOR HIGHWAY 17

This Division of Highways map shows four basic routes under consideration for extension of Highway 17 to Point Reyes National Seashore, and the variants of each route, along with suggested feeder roads. It was unveiled today at first public disclosure of the division's plans for the eventual east-west freeway.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

Marin Supervisors Urge Tax Reform

The Marin County Board of Supervisors today unanimously voted to urge the State Legislature to give tax reform top priority in the next session.

The motion, by Supervisor Thomas T. Storer and seconded by Peter H. Behr, followed a plea by Leo Souza of Tiburon, who asked the county to appoint a blue ribbon committee to study methods of financing schools.

"Marin is unique in many respects," said Souza, former trustee of the Reed School District. The Marin homeowner probably pays more for education than homeowners in any other county, he said.

He urged Marin to be a "participant, not just an observer" in tax reform legislation.

County Administrator Alan Bruce recommended that Souza's proposal for a blue ribbon commission be tabled, saying he questions the efficiency of a one-county study group. He suggested instead that the county review legislation that will be coming up in the next legislative session.

"Mr. Souza's idea could be valuable if the commission can be expanded to study tax reform in general as well as school financing," said Supervisor Peter H. Behr.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley arose from the audience section to report that "There is no question that next year, the legislaure will pass some tax reform measure." He pledged to work for such reform.

Supervisors took no action on Souza's proposal for a county-appointed commission but thanked him for calling attention to the high taxes, especially for schools.

School Snack Bar Coin Boxes Pried

Would-be thieves broke into the snack bar at Terra Linda High School last night and pried the coin boxes of four vending machines which had been emptied earlier in the day.

Bernice A. Murphy, manager of the snack bar, said only a few coins could have been left in the machines and no money was left in the snack bar over night.

To Award Contract

Fairfax School District Board will meet tonight at 7:45 at Manor School to award a contract for supplying of a portable district office building.

A sonic boom was heard in Northern Marin County shortly after 11:30 a.m. today. It was probably caused by an experimental plane out of Edwards Air Force Base, according to officials at Hamilton Air Force Base.

County Delays Action On Fire Service Area

Marin County supervisors today put off action to form a county service area for consolidated fire protection in the unincorporated areas, asking further information on the financial effects of such an area.

They adopted, by 3-to-2 vote, a resolution of intent to form such an area for consolidated police services, setting a public hearing for Oct. 25. Chairman Byron W. Leydecker and Ernest N. Kennenhofen dissented, asking that the question of the fire services be settled first.

Supervisors Peter H. Behr, Thomas T. Storer and William A. Gnoss opposed a resolution of intent to form the consolidated fire protection area after fire district chiefs complained they had not been informed of the financial ramifications to their districts.

Behr moved that the fire area be formed to include all incorporated areas except those in fire districts. The motion failed for lack of a second.

County Auditor Michael Mitchell told the board he favored Behr's proposal "because this would at least provide some tax equity."

"I completely disagree," said Kettenhofen, "and I thought that policy was to be made up here by the board."

Failure to adopt the resolution on the fire areas makes action on that matter impossible during the current fiscal year, the board was told.

"I really think we made a mistake by missing this year," said Leydecker.

Behr agreed, pointing out that "When we voted the increase in the structural fire tax we promised that the area would be formed and the taxpayers would get increased value in their fire protection."

Child Beating Filing Delayed

Filing of an information in Marin Superior Court against Eugene A. Boehm, 21, in a child-beating fatality case was continued by Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales today until 9:30 a.m. next Tuesday.

Reason was request by Boehm's attorney, Robert I. Conn, for more time to study the preliminary hearing transcript. Boehm was bound over to superior court Sept. 2 on charges of murder of the child, 16-month-old Timothy Wayne Buckley, and of felony child beating. He is held in county jail in lieu of $7,875 bail.

The victim, son of Mrs. Roberta Marie Buckley, died at Marin General Hospital Aug. 18. Mrs. Buckley and Boehm resided at 70 Lucky Drive, Greenbrae.

Hammer Slayer Sent To Prison

J. D. Jones, 30, was sentenced to state prison for five years to life today by Judge Jordan L. Martinelli of Marin Superior Court for second degree murder.

Jones, of 79 Cole Drive, Marin City, killed his ex-wife, Mary L. Jones, with a hammer Oct. 20, 1964, in an argument over custody of their son, 3-year-old James Davis Jones Jr.

A jury found him guilty on Aug. 26, then on Aug. 30 ruled he was sane at time of the slaying. He had pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity.

Five months after the murder, Jones was sent to Atascadero State Hospital, but was returned last March 1 after being declared sane and able to stand trial.

Judge Martinelli, retired, served as substitute judge in the case.

Tiburon Delays Duplex Permit

The Tiburon Board of Adjustments last night continued again an application by Lawrence E. Dewey for a use permit to construct a duplex apartment on Mar East Street. It will next be considered Oct. 17.

The board approved an application by Jeff Mayer of 563 Bridgeway, Sausalito, for a temporary sales permit to sell Christmas trees on a lot adjacent to the Safeway store on Tiburon Boulevard.

Joseph C. Marshall was elected chairman of the board. Development Administrator Phil Scott will be secretary.

The Tiburon Design Review Board also met last night and approved several sign applications.

San Rafael Shuns Tam Rail Issue

With a couple of nostalgic glances at the past, the San Rafael City Council last night bypassed any action on a request to endorse the Marin Conservation League's criteria for use on Mount Tamalpais.

The stumbling block to endorsement was the league's proposal that all commercial enterprises on public lands be located outside the heart of the natural area, which would curb the proposed Mount Tamalpais Railroad.

Councilman Fred Jensen said when he went to the inn on Mount Tamalpais in the old days he "really enjoyed it." He contended that "any park area of any size has commercial enterprises within the park."

Ed Avery Tindall of 811 Point San Pedro Road, representing the league said the area should be reserved from commercial exploitation.

C. F. Gilbert of Kentfield, one of the three men who have proposed a railroad and restaurant on the mountain, said it would be premature to prohibit them.

"There will be no bar, no motel, nothing objectionable," he said. "It will provide a respectable tourist attraction."

Councilman Charles W. Aby said he favored retaining as much outdoor area as possible, but "many public parks have commerical enterprise."

Tree Care Changeover Gives Council Trouble

San Rafael City Council ran into some confusion last night resulting from switching street tree planting and maintenance from public works to the parks department.

After some discussion, it was decided that a new street tree foreman would not be needed, additional clerical help for the park department would not be needed and Recreation Director Joseph D. Rodota would not be granted a raise because of additional responsibilities.

Charles L. Tacchi, chairman of the parks and recreation commission, recommended that a tree foreman and a half-time clerical worker be hired in the parks and recreation department.

The council agreed that John Camelon be designated as tree leadman, a working foreman, and be granted a 5 per cent pay increase to $654 a month, and that William M. Vaning, who resigned as tree foreman, work as part-time tree consultant at $125 a month.

Earlier in the session the council agreed that the city should participate with the Twelve Oak Hill Homeowners Assn. in a project to landscape about one mile of islands along Las Gallinas Avenue with juniper shrubs.

Under the proposal, the subdivider, Marin Master Builders, will purchase the plants, the home owners will plant them, and the city will dig the holes and maintain the plantings.

Councilmen also indicated they favored a revision of the city zoning ordinance estimated to take 10 months and cost $14,100, but delayed action until a city planner is hired.

Warren Jones and Douglas Duncan, planning consultants, reported that the present ordinance is inadequate and in need of revision.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

1. Awarded Maggiora and Ghilotti of Corte Madera, lowest of four bidders, a contract to a new sanitary sewer on a portion of Elizabeth Way at $4,487.
2. Granted Coldwell Banker and Co. permission for a free-standing sign near the City of Paris store at Northgate Shopping Center, overruling planning commission denial.
3. Postponed until Oct. 3 hearing by Eugene Aureguy and Harold McKenzie of planning commission requirements for street widening and slope grading for the Northgate East shopping center.
4. Adopted an ordinance requiring four-and-a-half foot setbacks on the north side of Verdi and Lisbon streets, an ordinance requiring only one planning commission hearing on zoning matters instead of two, and an amendment adding a planned unit development category to the zoning ordinance.
5. Authorized calling for bids on drainage improvements at the north end of Glen Park Avenue, estimated to cost $2,000.
6. Delayed consideration of a proposal by Chief Building Inspector Jack K. Coates that the city appoint a housing board to rule on substandard structures until further information is presented, and urged Coates to proceed with abatement against any substandard structure that needs to be abated.
7. Authorized calling bids for a trailer-mounted leaf loader, estimated to cost $3,500.
8. Referred to City Atty. David Menary a claim from Mrs. Edith Thomas of Santa Barbara, widow of Andrew A. Thomas, a former city building inspector, for $5,000. She claimed there was neglect because Thomas was not notified of insurance cancellation when he left city employ.
9. Authorized hiring LaVon F. Eller as junior accountant at $565 a month, and promoted David Marriott from junior civil engineer at $757 a month to assistant civil engineer at $795.
10. Accepted an offer by Pacific Gas and Electric Co. to increase lighting in the canal area from 6,000 lumen to 7,500 lumen at a reduction of $3.10 a month in the city's light bill, made possible by a switch from incandescent to mercury vapor lighting.
11. Authorized hiring Coates, Herfurth, and England, actuaries, to make an actuarial study of the city retirement system at a cost of $300.
12. Granted Alvin Engen, an engineer with the fire department, a 90-day leave without pay to recuperate from a back injury suffered off-duty.
13. Authorized City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen to protest paying a $309 fee to the Marin Municipal Water District for annexation of the Santa Margarita Valley Park area.
14. Advised the city staff to write the long lines division of Pacific Gas and Electric Co. to determine what plans are for additional transmission lines in the San Rafael area.

Adjourned at midnight until Oct. 3 at 8 p.m. at city hall.

Old City Hall Demolition Is Delayed

San Rafael City Council opened bids on demolition of the old city hall at Fifth and A Streets last night, but delayed awarding the contract for two weeks to allow time to dispose of the furnishings.

Lowest of four bidders was Ghilotti Brothers of San Rafael at $4,385.

City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen reported about $1,000 worth of furnishings have been sold to other public agencies, between one-third and one-half of the stock.

Councilmen urged that the remainder be sold in two weeks, even if it has to go to a public auction.

Councilmen also asked Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles to have the workers locate the cornerstone "and see what's in it."

Highway Plans Talk

Vincent S. Yoder, planning project engineer with the California Division of Highways, will speak at the Sertoma Club luncheon at noon next Monday at the Elks Club, San Rafael, 1312 Mission Avenue. His topic will be the extension of State Route 17 to West Marin.

Sierra Club Firm On Plan Location

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) Sierra Club directors have voted to stand on their endorsement of a proposed utility plant in Diablo Canyon on the San Luis Obispo County coast.

By 9-3, they voted Saturday against overturning the tentative approval they gave in May for a Pacific Gas & Electric Co. plant.

William Siri, a director for the conservation group, said the alternative was a site in the Nipomo Dunes near Santa Maria. The club has been trying to make that area into a state park.

Industrial Area Firms Seek Road Connection

A small contingent representing the Irwin Street industrial area which has been cut off by realignment of the southbound Highway on-ramp urged the San Rafael City Council last night to provide an access road.

Homer C. Rickards of 330 Summit Avenues, owner of property in the area, said there has been a drop in business since the street has been dead-ended.

Real estate broker Herman Deitch said the "area is deteriorating" and real estate broker Benjamin Ostlind said "two businesses had to leave because of the cutoff."

Arthur Brodie of San Rafael Tire and Brake Co., 666 Irwin Street, reported a $100,000 dip in sales since the street has been cut off.

The council approved drawing up working plans for a proposed connection from Second Street to Irwin Street.

Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles recommended that a two-way street, 40-feet wide and about 750 feet long, be constructed. Rawles said he could not estimate the cost.

Northwestern Pacific Railroad has not objected to the road which will make a grade crossing of tracks, but wants "market price for the land."

Councilman Louis H. Barr suggested the city and the property owners could work out the project on a cooperative basis.

Pistol Fires, Kills During Cleaning

OAKLAND (AP) — A pistol he was cleaning fired Sunday and killed David A. Newton, 19, who was preparing for a deer hunting trip.

He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Delius Newton.

Indonesian Students Again Demand Sukarno's Ouster

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)— Thousands of students demonstrated in Jakarta today against President Sukarno for the second successive day, and again the army did not interfere.

More than 8,000 students massed in the heart of the capital to hear Sukarno accused of masterminding the attempted Communist coup last October. Troops made no move against them but surrounded Sukarno's palace to prevent any attempt by the demonstrators to march against it.

"Sukarno must get out of the palace on his own, or the students will throw him out," leaders shouted.

Charter Advisers Repeat Stand Against Legion Hall In City Park

The San Rafael Charter Revision Committee, with one member and its legal adviser absent, last night postponed all action until its next meeting, Sept. 29 at 7:30 p.m. in the city hall.

The four members present, however, reaffirmed their earlier stand against permitting private installations on city parks — specifically, an American Legion Hall at Albert Field.

Chairman Roy M. Michael announced the library board would be represented at the next meeting to discuss charter provisions governing the library. He said he had not yet received a reply from the board of education to his invitation that it send representatives to a meeting.

The matter of exclusive franchises came up again, with Michael noting they are provided for in charters of San Jose, Downey, and Chico, all recently rewritten. He appointed committeemen John D. LaNoue and Gerald H. Purcell to present a recommendation at the next meeting on whether the ban on exclusive franchises should be eliminated from San Rafael's charter.

LaNoue brought up whether the 5 per cent interest limit on city warrants was realistic. Michael agreed to ask City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen and Finance Officer Orrin Wendling to attend the Sept. 29 meeting to discuss this and other financial matters.

LaNoue had several other suggestions: an anti-nepotism article, such as that in the San Jose charter which forbits city employment of a relative of a city councilman or the city manager; a section forbidding job discrimination for political opinion, union membership, race, color, or creed. He suggested the city's merit system, now covered only by ordinance, should be provided for in the charter, with its details left for the ordinance.

Charity Aide Gets Prison For Stealing

FRESNO (AP) — A Fresno woman accused of embezzling $20,620 from the United Crusade was sentenced to state prison yesterday for forgery and grand theft.

Mrs. June Winzler, 41, an employee of the charity organization between June, 1965 and March, admitted she forged the signatures of two UC officials to allow her access to funds received by mail .She set up a bank account to which she deposited the stolen money and wrote checks for her own use.

Superior Court Judge Matt Goldstein ordered her sentences to run concurrently. Forgery is punishable by up to 14 years in prison and grand theft carries a maximum sentence of 10 years.

Asked to explain where the money went, Mrs. Winzler listed trips to the coast and the San Francisco Bay Area, gifts to family and friends, furniture, cocktail parties, clothing, medical expenses, baby sitting expenses, and other miscellaneous items.

Mrs. Winzler described herself as a compulsive buyer.

Bishop Deplores Apartheid Policy

By STEPHEN COOK

An Episcopal bishop from South Africa, outspoken in his opposition to that country's apartheid policy, told a gathering of Belvedere women yesterday that he fears the government there may bar him from returning to his flock.

Rt. Rev. Clarence Edward Crowther, bishop of Kimberly and Kurman, South Africa, said he left the country three weeks ago for a two-month visit to his native United States, and his application for a re-entry visa to South Africa has not yet been answered.

'POLICE STATE'

Bishop Crowther told the women of St. Stephen's Guild in Belvedere of the "entrenched selfishness of South African whites" and said the country is governed by a "police state."

Balthazar Vorster, who succeeded the assassinated Hendrik Verwoerd as prime minister of South Africa, was in jail as a Nazi during World War II, Bishop Crowther said, "and that gives some indication of where South Africa is heading."

Bishop Crowther deplored the assassination of Verwoerd, saying "I don't believe assassination is a way of showing dissent, no matter how valid that dissent may be."

The bishop said that to support the apartheid laws, which give the white establishment "total control over every Negro's life in South Africa," the government has taken away the right of citizens to dissent to the national policy.

SAID BEFORE

"You have a police state when all guarantees of personal liberty are removed," he said, adding: "Everything I am saying now, I have said before in South Africa."

This fact, he said, has placed him in jeopardy there. He said he has been followed day and night by South African police cars. A luncheon in his house, attended by an African priest, was raided and the guests were subjected to police interrogation.

He said his telephones in South Africa have been tapped and that he was arrested for entering an African Reserve, an area reserved for Negroes to live, last April.

PERMIT REVOKED

Just before he left the country, the bishop reported, he was informed that his permit to enter the reserves in his diocese has been revoked. "Eighty-five per cent of the communicants in my diocese live there," he reported.

To discourage political dissent, he said, the South African minister of justice can imprison any person, without trial, for up to six months. When that sentence is up, the minister can release him, for a minute, then imprison him for another six months.

"This could go on until the man died," the bishop said.

Another method, he said, is to ban a person—confine him to his house. "The man cannot leave his house or be visited without the minister's permission. He can't be quoted in newspapers. He is cut off totally. His home becomes his prison," Bishop Crowther said.

STUDENT BANNED

He said that Ian Roberts, a law student who invited Sen. Robert Kennedy to make a speaking tour of the country, has been banned for five years, without ever having been tried or told what his offense was.

He said the apartheid laws restrict the country's 13 million Negroes (compared with three million whites and two million mulattos) to 15 per cent of the country's land, "and it is certainly not in the most fertile or industrial area of the country."

The right to live in the cities, the right to the highest paying jobs, the right to vote and to organize trade unions are reserved for the South African whites, the bishop said.

"Legislated economic subservience is the lot of the South African Negro," he said. "South Africa is the second richest country in the world, yet its Negroes live under about the poorest conditions in the world."

OLD AT 35

Bishop Crowther told the women that 40 per cent of the Negro children in South Africa die before age 5 and "a woman is very old at age 35 in South Africa."

"These conditions," he said, "exist because of the entrenched selfishness of the white establishment and its fear of losing this high standard of living."

The bishop said his diocese, covering 300,000 square miles, with 50,000 communicants, has a total income of $60,000 a year. Most of his priests have to travel from congregation to congregation by donkey and cart.

Speaking at St. Stephen's Church, which overlooks the Belvedere Lagoon, he told of recently visiting an Episcopal diocese which has built a $600,000 church.

'FOREST LAWN'

"I call this the Forest Lawn mentality of the church," he said. "There is a beautiful setting, a beautiful building, but it's dead. I don't think God needs a $600,000 church. As for me, I'd rather die in a mud hut in Africa than be buried in Forest Lawn. I'll haunt anybody who puts me there."

The bishop said he was in Belvedere "to make an appeal for concern, not for money. . . . The principal problem of the 20th Century is not East versus West, but that of people learning to live together in racial partnership."

Bishop Crowther, 40, is an American citizen who, until 1964, lived in Beverly Hills and was Episcopal chaplain at University of California at Los Angeles.

Rocket Fuel Failure Fine As Pavement

By SCIENCE SERVICE

PASADENA — Space Age research is leading to progress on earth. In the future roads may be paved, swimming pools lined and houses roofed with a new thermoplastic rubber that is the by-prodduct of a search for a powerful rocket fuel.

The new compound, a mixture of asphalt, oil and ordinary plastic, has a rubbery consistency and is more resilient and durable than asphalt alone.

It apparently can withstand Alaska's cold and California's heat for it was not damaged by laboratory temperatures ranging from 100 degrees below zero to 180 degrees above.

Samples tested for over a year also seem to be resistant to smog which cracks most rubbers. It would also be less likely to be split by earthquakes than asphalt or concrete. Moreover, it is strong enough to be produced in sheets, like paper.

Dr. Frank J. Hendel of the California Institute of Technology invented this remarkable rubber which he envisions some day being rolled out on a highway like a carpet.

In the immediate future, however, it could be used to mend cracks in asphalt or concrete roads. By laying down a half-inch-thick carpet of thermoplastic rubber over the cracked surface of a highway, complete or partial replacement of the surface might be unnecessary.

The one major handicap to mass production of thermoplastic rubber is expense. It costs 20 cents a pound, or $400 a ton, compared to the $7.50 for the type of asphalt commonly used to pave streets and driveways.

Dr. Hendel discovered thermoplastic rubber when he was mixing polymers in experiments to find solid propellant fuel binders at Caltech's Jet Propulsion Laboratory for the National Space and Aeronautics Administration.

After testing about two dozen blends of the plastic-like chemicals, Dr. Hender received a 20-year-old solid-fuel experiment using asphalt. He added the usual oil as well as the new polyethylene and ended up with the tough, rubbery product when it all cooled.

Ironically, the far ranging applications of thermoplastic rubber do not include use in rocket fuels for which it was originally tested.

The name of Richmond was derived from Pt. Richmond, San Francisco Bay, which in turn was named for Richmond, Va., birthplace of Edmund Randolph, who represented San Francisco at the first session of the California Legislature at San Jose in 1849, and who was a son of Gov. Edmund Randolph of Virginia.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Insomnia Comes In Three Styles But No Substitute For Sleeping

VAN DELLEN

Insomnia comes in three main types: Trouble falling asleep, awakening early in the morning long before the alarm is due to go off, and waking up several times during the night.

There are 101 reasons for sleeplessness. Temporary factors include grief over sickness or death in the family, worry over an impending business deal, or an unusually hard day at the office. Discomfort produced by physical factors such as pain, over-exertion, indigestion, coughing or itching also will keep a person awake.

ENVIRONMENTAL factors also play a role. The bedroom may be too warm or too cold, a light may shine through the window, or the neighborhood may be noisy. Excessive fatigue prevents relaxation and so will hunger or thirst. Disturbances of circulation, such as hardening of the arteries, often lead to insomnia. The same can be said of overindulgence in coffee, alcohol or tobacco.

Since there is no substitute for sleep, anyone with something to offer is likely to have a large audience. Sedatives enter the picture but most physicians reserve these drugs for occasions when all other measures fail. They are a blessing, however, for those who are tense and unable to sleep because of an unavoidable temporary situation as well as for the ill and mentally deranged.

SIMPLER METHODS of inducing relaxation by lessening tension include bedtime rituals, some of which are carryovers from childhood days. The infant's pacifier is duplicated by the bedtime snack of the adult. Others are helped by making a mental note of the regular bedtime chores: The window is open, the alarm is set, the doors are locked, and the glass of water is placed on the nightstand.

Listening to music is a favorite bedtime soother but some prefer to concentrate on majestic scenes like the Grand Canyon. Others take a warm bath, do a series of exercises, or twist and turn in bed until the most comfortable position is attained.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

POOR EQUILIBRIUM

L. G. writes: When walking, I find myself being pulled to one side every now and then. This causes me to bump into doorways and other objects. My doctor suggests a visit to a neurologist and I expect to do this soon. Do you have any suggestions on the cause of this peculiar sensation?

REPLY

CHILD'S BOWLEGS

Mrs. K. writes: Is there any chance that the bowed legs of a 2-year-old boy who has had rickets will straighten out eventually?

REPLY

Yes, but even though the rickets has been cured, a bone specialist should be consulted for a firsthand opinion.

SCALING EYELIDS

E. F. writes: Can eyestrain cause dandruff of the eyelids?

REPLY

No. Dandruff and blepharitis usually result from infection or allergy. Seborrheic dermatitis is another possibility. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on blepharitis.

NOT ESTABLISHED

Mrs. E. C. writes: Is gout caused by hardening of the arteries?

REPLY

The two conditions co-exist but gout is a metabolic disorder and unrelated to hardening of the arteries.

Soviet, U.S. Juvenile Problems Compared

By SCIENCE SERVICE

MIAMI, Fla. — Juvenile delinquency has grown to be a problem in the Soviet Union, despite Communist claims that crime and socialism do not go together, a Harvard University professor said.

Dr. Paul Hollander reported to the American Socioligical Association meeting here that the delinquency of young Russians arises probably out of boredom. In this respect, the American and Russian problem have something in common, he said.

American urban centers produce much boredom with the lack of playgrounds and places to go, said Dr. Hollander, but the Soviet Union is doing a still better job of boring its youth than is the United States.

First, there is the "proverbial drabness" of Soviet life, produced by a "lack of official imagination and the inertia of an over-organized society," said the sociologist.

"An institution that does more than its share in injecting boredom into the life of the young is the Young Communist League," which few young people would attend, if they did not have to.

Another source of boredom is "lifelong membership in one huge bureaucratic organization that concerns itself with every detail of life," noted Dr. Hollander. "Such routinization leaves little room for chance, luck, imagination or excitement."

At the same time, young Russians are experiencing the same type of frustrated expectations that Americans have faced for years. They are promised more than they will get in consumer goods, opportunities for leisure and higher education.

"Compared with American juvenile delinquency, the Soviet appears on the whole to be more tame and more underdeveloped."

In Russia, drunkenness rather than violence is the major problem with juveniles. As a recent issue of the "Current Digest of the Soviet Press" described it: "Last year more than 2,000 intoxicated young men were arrested in one Leningrad borough alone. Out of every 10 violators of public order, nine are drunk. A group of juvenile delinquents serving sentences in corrective labor colonies for minors were questioned. The overwhelming majority of them said that the chief cause of their violations of the law had been "drinking out of boredom."

To Soviets, admitting the existence of crime and delinquency is a far more traumatic thing than here, said Dr. Hollander. But recently they have begun to face their problem.

Another issue of CDSP reveals this new official recognition as well as the type of delinquent common to present-day Russian society. The Republic Minister for Safeguarding Public Order was quoted as saying: "What is the matter? Why is it that in our wonderful time, when the material well-being and culture of the people is rising steadily this evil is so tenacious. Why is it that the hooligan continues to commit outrages . . . ? The trouble is that the laws are

CUMBERLAND HOUSE

Most emotionally disturbed children are not mentally retarded.

Still, such children were—and still are—placed in homes for the delinquent or mentally retarded; in state institutions, often in wards with psychotic patients.

Cumberland House, in Nashville, Tenn., was established in 1962 under a grant from the National Institute of Mental Health as a pilot center of a project designed to combat this.

Some 32 children now reside at Cumberland House. They live in dormitories, each housing eight students and a teacher-counselor.

The children, aged six through 12, are usually referred to the school by mental health clinics. Parents pay a tuition based on their ability to pay.

A student's life is filled with academic work, recreation and arts and crafts—an optimistic, vigorous program that makes it difficult for a child to act in a disturbed way. Each child is counseled on his particular problems and is drawn into group life.

The goal of the school is to develop ways to help disturbed children so that they won't be institutionalized as adults. The emphasis is on educating the child to adjust to all phases of normal life rather than on psychotherapy.

Many of the children are returned home and to normal schools after an average of six months. School officials do admit, though, that not all of the 250 children enrolled so far have been helped.

Dr. Kenneth Hobbs, chief investigator for the project, termed it "very remarkably successful." There has been a 75 percent improvement rate at less expense than normal psychotherapy methods, he said.

TELEVISION REVIEW

'Stage 67' Showing All The Action Now

By RICK DU BROW

Over at ABC-TV, where the promotion department has very little humor about the network's new "Stage 67" series, the lack of seriousness and proper reverence in the above paragraph will not be appreciated. The impression that emanates from ABC-TV's promoters is that there was no contemporary theater before "Stage 67," and that you push drama the same as "Batman."

THE NEEDLE

All right, so much for the needle. It's just that I'm tired of being told righteously of my responsiblities as a viewer, because most of the people I know who watch television have been waiting for the networks to catch up to them. But of course, "ABC Stage 67" is far and away the best new video series, and there is no doubt that it holds the only major excitement in weekly programming.

Last Wednesday's premiere, "The Love Song of Barney Kempinski," a wild and wonderful comedy by Murray Schisgal about a young New Yorker on his wedding day, was a scintillating start.

COLD WAR DRAMA

And I hope you have enough curiosity and interest in original programming to try tomorrow's "ABC Stage 67" offering as well — a cold war drama whose story was written by John Le Carre, author of "The Spy Who Came in from the Cold."

With a screenplay by Anthony Mann, the drama, "Dare I Weep, Dare I Mourn," stars James Mason and Hugh Griffith in a tale of a West German businessman who is told that his father's deathbed request in the East Zone was to have his son take his body to the West for burial.

I haven't seen this production yet either, but there is no doubt that the variety of programs on "AB C Stage 67" piques interest. On Wednesday of next week, for instance, the presentation is a musical, "Olympus 7-0000," about an ineffective football coach and his totally hapless team "saved by the machinations of the Greek god Hermes."

The cast includes Donald O'Connor, Phyllis Newman, Larry Blyden, Fred Clark, Eddie Foy Jr., Lou Jacobi and Joe Namath and the New York Jets, and the show is by Richard Adler, who did "Damn Yankees" and "Pajama Game."

And the week following, on Oct. 5, "ABC Stage 67" will offer a documentary, "The Kennedy Wit," about the late president, with Jack Paar as producer and host.

CHARMING PAIR

Most of the action in the new season, in fact, seems to be at ABC-TV, at least in terms of the weekly programming. "Love On a Rooftop," a half hour comedy about a charming pair of newlyweds and their tight budget, has the potential of a delightful winner. "That Girl," starring Marlo Thomas as an aspiring actress in New York, also can be a frothy outing if the scripts can match the vivacity of the young headliner. And Milton Berle's one-hour comeback series show that the old pro is still hard to beat at fast, low comedy.

If Phyllis Diller's powerhouse comedy style can hold up, there are moments in her new ABC-TV show, "The Pruitts of Southampton," about a rich family gone broke. And, heretical as it may seem to admit it, Dale Robertson's Western, "Iron Horse," about a gambler who wins a railroad, has some of the good old-fashioned zest that Westerns lost when they went psychological.

Rust Found On Tam Junipers

Disease-carrying tamarix juniper in private gardens along Roosevelt Avenue in Mill Valley may have to be destroyed this winter, Agricultural Commissioner Richard T. Straw disclosed today.

The disease, known as hawthorn-juniper rust (gymnosporangium confusum) spreads from Tam juniper to flowering hawthorn. It was discovered last May on Roosevelt Avenue and has since spread to other areas in Blithedale Canyon.

No final decision has been made regarding the control program, but something must be done before next spring, said Straw.

"Certainly, we do not intend that all 820 Tam junipers will be removed," said Straw. "Further investigation may show only a small portion will have to be removed."

Prior to its discovery in Mill Valley, the rust was unknown in the Western Hemisphere.

Leonard Shaw, assistant Marin County district attorney, and Mrs. Willis Clark Jr. of the Sunny Hills Guild will be guests on "Community Circle" at 1:30 p.m. Sunday on KRON-TV (Channel 4).

Complete Overhaul For The Yankees

By HAL BOCK

NEW YORK (AP) — The housecleaning at Yankee Stadium has started right at the top with the resignation of Dan Topping as president and chairman of the board and before it's over, baseball's most successful franchise could have a completely new front office team.

Michael Burke, a vice president of the Columbia Broadcasting System, was named to replace Topping as chief executive officer of the club. CBS aiso purchased Topping's 10 per cent share of the club and now holds sole ownership of the Yankees.

Topping's resignation left the status of his son, Dan Jr. in question. Topping Jr., was named general manager of the Yankees in May when Ralph Houk left the front office to become field manager. The question is now that Topping Sr. is gone, how long will Topping Jr. remain?

CBS is rumored to favor a more experienced baseball man for the task of rebuilding the Yankees. A club spokesman said Topping Jr. would be offered a contract to stay with the team but did not say in what capacity he would be retained.

The name most prominently mentioned to take over the Yankee general manager's job is Lee MacPhail, currently administrative assistant to baseball commissioner William D. Eckert.

MacPhail moved from the Yankee front office to Baltimore, where he built the Orioles into pennant contenders before joining the commissioner's staff.

Independent-Journal Sports

FOURTH SECTION Tues., Sept. 20, 33

Lee's father, Larry MacPhail, along with Topping and Del Webb, purchased the Yankees from the estate of the late Jacob Ruppert prior to the 1945 season. Two years later, Webb and Topping purchased MacPhail's share of the club.

In 1964 CBS bought 80 per cent of the club with Webb and Topping each retaining 10 per cent. Webb sold his share to CBS last year and Topping's resignation yesterday leaves CBS as sole owner.

In Topping's 19 years as chief officer of the club, the Yankees won 15 American League pennants and 10 World Series. The club, however, has slumped badly in the last two seasons. New York finished sixth in 1965 and is now in last place.

Burke, a member of the Yankee board of directors since 1964, has been with CBS since 1956. He served as president of Columbia Broadcasting System Europe, S.A., with headquarters in London from 1957-62.

A graduate of Pennsylvania where he played halfback for the varsity football team, Burke served as a Navy officer during World War II. He won the Navy Cross for extraordinary heroism and the Silver Star for gallantry in action behind enemy lines while working with underground movements in France and Italy.

Topping announced his resignation to a meeting of the board and called it a personal decision.

"My family lives permanently in Florida, and I have many other outside activities," he said. "I think it is in the best interests of the Yankees as well as for myself to leave at this time.

"My years with the Yankees have been the happiest of my life and, of course, I shall miss it," he continued. "It is not easy to leave an enterprise that is as close to my heart as the Yankees have been, but I know that this move on my part is best for my family and for the Yankees."

49ERS BACK AT WORK FOR COLTS AND RAMS

REDWOOD CITY (UPI)—The San Francisco 49ers, with a strange 0-0-1 record after two weeks of play, are back hard at work in order to get ready for Sunday's tiff at tough Baltimore.

The Prospectors tied Minnesota in their opener and then got a bye on the schedule. Although most scouting is done by films, the 49ers had scouts watching both Baltimore and Los Angeles last weekend. The 49ers play the Rams Sept. 30.

"The reason we like to look at them in person once in a while," said Coach Jack Christiansen, "is so we can get a better idea of the injury situation. You can't depend on reports. No coach likes to tell just how bad a man is hurt because if you know that a rookie must be used, you can make plans during the week's practices to take advantage of him."

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

By JIM GILMARTIN
I-J Sports Editor

Happy Birthday To Golf Links; Any Questions For Sharman?

GREEN YEAR: Please join me in a rousing chorus of "Happy Birthday" for the San Geronimo National Golf Course.

Thank you. That was beautiful. Marin's newest golf facility will be one year old tomorrow.

THE YANKEES may be dead last in the American League, but at least one ex-Yankee is rolling right along. Joe DeMaestri, who shortstopped for the New York pinstrippers several World Series ago, bowled a 246 game at Nave Lanes last week. That score is not to be confused with his former batting average or his present weight.

COACH BILL SHARMAN of the S.F. Warriors will answer questions from the audience when his National Basketball Assn. team plays an intra-squad game at College of Marin Oct. 6. If you have any questions, send them to me and I'll pass 'em along to the Marin Community Interest Committee sponsoring the game for the benefit of the American Cancer Society. Like, why-inell did they trade Guy Rodgers?

BILL SHARMAN

MITCH AMUNDSEN, eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Amundsen of Larkspur, recently became the 100th member of the Marin Pirates, the county's largest and oldest swim club. Coach Art Octavio hopes to have at least 200 members (6-18 years of age) in AAU competition by next summer.

PITTSBURGH COACHES Johnny Pesky and Alex Grammas dined at Nave Lanes Sunday night, presumably on green weenies and NOT sour Franks. Anyway, the Pesky Pirates said the chow was just like our Grammas used to make and they went out and bowled over our Giants again yesterday.

RICK EDWARDS, former All-Marin Athletic League halfback at Terra Linda, has transferred from Washington State to U.C. at Santa Barbara . . . Also at Santa Barb is Doug Barker, another former Terra Linda All-Leaguer who has been converted from a tackle to tight end. Incidentally, I'd rather be a tight end than an offensive guard, wouldn't you?

ED FARINA, the All-MAL guard at Drake, has enrolled at USC.

MARINITE JIM HALM didn't have to join the Navy to see the world . . . he enrolled at University of Hawaii and will wind up with a trunk full of travel stickers before he's through.

A big basketball hero who starred at College of Marin, Halm and Hawaii's Hula Hoopsters already are booked for a junket to Tahiti this season and later for a goodwill tour of several countries.

JACK EDWARDS, former San Rafael High gridder, is fullbacking on the Cal Aggie varsity at Davis. Jack, a senior, is majoring in food science and I imagine he has grown a lot since the last time I saw him.

Baruna Leads Yachts

Baruna, owned by Belvedere resident Jim Michael of the St. Francis Yacht Club, will be seeking to increase its point lead in the second heat of the St. Francis Perpetual Trophy Series tomorrow.

The 72-foot black sloop-rigged former yawl swept to the initial lead yesterday when she outdueled the famed South African sketch Stormvogel across the 21.4-mile San Francisco Bay course.

But instead of a narrow triumph, Baruna wound up with a hefty victory of 7 minutes, 51 seconds when Stormvogel, a veteran of nearly every major deep-water race in the world, was disqualified after tacking inside Presidio Shoal buoy on the final leg.

Baruna raced to her lead in a corrected time of 2 hours, 48 minutes, 50 seconds.

Instead, Sirius, Art Wald's 10-meter Southern California sloop picked up the runnerup spot, nipping out Jim Wilhite's 63-foot St. Francis sloop Athene, 2:56.41 to 2:59.30.

Ocean Queen of San Francisco YC was given 11 points after the craft broke her mast.

Final three races in the series of four were scheduled for Wednesday, Friday and Saturday.

Baruna, 3½; Sirius, 2; Athene, St. Francis Y.C., 3; Santana, St. Francis Y.C., 4; Zapata, San Diego Y.C., 5; Orient, Newport Harbor Y.C., 6; Spirit, Royal Vancouver Canada Y.C., 7; Serena, San Francisco Y.C., 8; Ocean Queen, 11, and Stormvogel, 13.

New Record For Marin Swim Relay

San Rafael Swim Club's 400-yard relay squad will go into the Pacific Association Amateur Athletic Union swimming record book.

The event, swum for the first time under PAAU auspices at the Hamilton Air Force Base AAU Class A meet last weekend, was won by the San Rafael Swim Club team and therefore is a record. The team, competing in the boys 13-14 group, swam the 400 in a time of 3:56.3.

Nine national and PAAU records were shattered or set at the meet, sponsored by the Ham-Swim Club. The meet attracted 33 teams and 400 swimmers from Northern California.

Girls 10 and under, 40 Free — Kimberly Welch, Arden Hills Swim Club, 22.6. (old record, 22.7).

Girls 10 and under, 160 I.M. — Miss. Welch, 2:05.7. (old record, 2:05.9).

Boys 13-14, 160 I.M. — Steve Powers, 1:37.9. (old record, 1:40.6).

Boys 13-14 400 Free Relay — San Rafael Swim Team, Gary Schweitzer, Gary Kaufman, Mark Thompson, Tom Panages, 3:56.3, established Pacific Association event and time.

THE FIRST ONE—Pittsburgh's Bill Mazeroski slides safely into third base after driving in Roberto Clemente with the game's first run against the Giants in the seventh inning yesterday at Candlestick Park. Giant Jesus Alou in left field fielded the hit but overthrew home plate trying to get Clemente. Pitcher Bob Bolin's throw to third baseman Jim Hart, trying to get Mazeroski, was in the dirt. The Pirates won, 6-1, in 11 innings.

Dying Giants To Hurl Ron Herbel

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Ron Herbel, virtually a forgotten man on the San Francisco Giants' pitching staff, was slated to start for them tonight in "operation desperate" against the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Giants' hopes of winning the pennant took another jolt yesterday when the second place Pirates scored five times in the 11th inning to rack up a 6-1 victory.

Manager Herman Franks of the Giants, gazing steadily at silent reporters on the other side of his desk, finally said in a low voice that it would be Herbel tonight and Juan Marichal Wednesday in the last game of the four-game series.

"Boy, that Bob Bolin pitched a terrific game," Herman whispered at one point, meaning that "Johnny Reb" had allowed the Pirates only two hits in the eight frames he worked. But Bolin had sustained an injured ankle when he fell off the mound during the seventh inning and was removed for a pinch-hitter in the eighth.

Then things collapsed on Frank Linzy (7-11) as he gave up eight hits and five runs in the next three innings.

Herbel, (4-4) will be making his first start since Aug. 21. He is slated to face Vernon Law (12-8) the veteran Pirate craftsman.

The Giants fell to four full games behind the pace-setting Dodgers with ten contests left to play plus the makeup of a rainout at Cincinnati if the pennant still is in doubt. Los Angeles defeated Philadelphia last night, 6-1.

With the score tied 1-1 in the 11th yesterday, Roberto Clemente put the skids under Linzy by leading off with his 26th homer of the season. It was a looping fly that hugged the right field foul line and barely missed being blown on the wrong side of the pole.

Then Linzy was tagged for a double by Willie Stargel, a single by Donn Clendenon and gave up an intentional walk to get at Bob Bailey. The latter responded by hitting a grand slam into the right field seats.

Pete Mikkelsen (9-7) hurled the last two frames to get the win after taking over for Bob Veale who had a one-hitter and 1-0 lead going into the ninth. But the Giants tied the score on a pinch single past third baseman Bailey by Willie Mays, who had sat on the bench with a sore right instep.

Pittsburgh had taken a 1-0 lead at Bolin's expense on Bill Mazeroski's single in the seventh. During this frame, Bolin injured his ankle falling after making a pitch to Clemente. But he stayed around until lifted for a pinch-hitter in the Giants' half of the eighth.

BIG D ON THE BEAM

Drysdale To The Rescue As Dodgers Win 'Crucial'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Don Drysdale, the Los Angeles Dodgers' 30-year-old righthander, is finally showing why he is the second highest paid pitcher in major league history.

The heat was squarely on the Dodgers yesterday after second-place Pittsburgh stretched its winning streak to three games with a 6-1 triumph at San Francisco. The win meant the Dodgers' National League lead would be shaved to one-half game if they lost to Philadelphia.

It was the third powerful performance in a row by Drysdale, a 23-game winner a year ago, who dropped 10 of his first 14 decisions this season. Last Thursday night, he won the critical opener of a series with Pittsburgh, 5-3, and four nights before, he toiled the first 8 1-3 innings of a 1-0 victory over Houston.

"I thought I finally found the groove right after the All-Star game (in mid-July)," Drysdale said last night. "I thought I pitched as well in the last three games as I did at any time last year."

TRADE RUMORS

Drysdale's record this year is only 11-16 and there have been rumors that he'll either be traded this fall or suffer a cut in his $110,000 salary. But General Manager E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi says he has assured Drysdale that he has no intention of trading him.

"How could I replace a pitcher like Don?" asked Bavasi.

In his resurgence, Drysdale has a modest record of seven victories and six losses since June 25. But his earned run average since then is a respectable 2.82.

He was unlucky not to get a shutout against the Phillies. Second-inning singles by Richie Allen and Clay Dalrymple put runners at first and third with one out in the second inning before Dick Groat hit a tailor-made double-play grounder. But Groat was safe at first when Wes Parker had his foot off the bag.

The Phils offered only two mild threats after that, and Drysdale retired the last 12 batters in succession.

"It was the strongest I've finished all year," he said. "I felt like I could have pitched another three strong innings.

The Dodgers won the game at the expense of Jim Bunning (17-12), who was rocked for three homers. Lou Johnson drove in three runs with a single and two homers—his 15th and 16th of the year. Johnson has hit five homers in the past six games and has driven in 11 runs in 11 games.

Great News For Northern Cal Duck Hunters

SACRAMENTO (CNS — A mid-September survey of waterfowl in the central valleys, just completed, shows the duck population up 61 per cent over last year, the Department of Fish and Game reported.

Frank M. Kozlik, of the department, said the count, made in cooperation with the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, showed 819,000 ducks tallied by aerial estimates. This compared with 509,600 at the same time last year and 444,000 in 1964. The total was the highest since 1960.

The bulk of the increase was in pintails (sprig), while mallards actually were down somewhat from last year in the Sacramento valley. There also was a big increase in green-winged teal, but other ducks, such as widgeon, were in lesser numbers.

"Evidently this increase (in the survey) reflects the better production on northern breeding grounds and the 'moderate increase' forecast for the fall flight," Kozlik said. "In years of increased production, we usually find the birds moving into California from the north country earlier and in greater numbers."

The increased number of ducks, especially pintails, will be welcome news to the thous-hunters. After a season last year in which the five-bird limit could include no more than three in the aggregate of pintails and mallards, this year's limit is seven birds with no specie restrictions.

The higher count this year is not necessarily a result of the reduced limit last year, Kozlik said, as counts made after the season closed in January of 1966 showed increases in the pintail and mallard population then.

Another count will be made before the waterfowl hunting season opens Oct. 22, with others to follow during and after the season.

The count for the Sacramento valley showed 325,300 pintails, 83,605 mallards and 95,865 others, mostly queen-winged teal, for a total of 504,770. This compared with 244,150 pintails, 121,855 mallards and 27,635 others for a total of 393,640 a year ago in mid-September.

The count from Sacramento to the San Francisco Bay, including the delta area, Suisun marsh and Yolo by-pass, totaled 82,635 pintails, 8,395 mallards and 7,740 others for a total of 98,770. This was up sharply from last year when the count was 17,240 pintails, 4,195 mallards and 2,880 others for a total of 24,315.

Totals for the San Joaquin valley were 145,040 pintails, 15,640 mallards and 54,780 others for a total of 215,460. A year ago in the San Joaquin valley, the count was 71,785 pintails, 6,005 mallards and 13,255 others for a total of 91,,045.

HEAVY GRID SCHEDULE IN COUNTY THIS WEEK

Marin Athletic League football teams will try to get untracked from a generally disappointing season opening last week when they play seven non-league games Friday and Saturday, four of them on Marin County playing fields.

The College of Marin Tars open their season with a game at Menlo Friday while San Rafael Military Academy collides with Tomales at Tomales Friday.

Marin Athletic League teams reeled from a weekend that saw two of the favorites for the title this year jolted by practice competition and another team lose while three others won and San Rafael tied.

Oddly enough, it was Marin Catholic, winner only once last year, that rang up the first Marin win, a 21-14 victory last Friday afternoon at Albany. But Terra Linda was shocked by Clayton Valley, 6-0, and Redwood was churned under an El Cerrito ground attack, 27-14.

But Novato, with a 7-6 win at College Park, and Drake, with an impressive 26-13 trouncing of Petaluma, salvaged Marin honors while San Rafael tied Canyon, 7-7.

Marin Catholic and Tamalpais will be seen in a day-night doubleheader at College of Marin Stadium Saturday with the Wildcats taking on St. Elizabeth in the evening after Tamalpais meets College Park in the afternoon. San Rafael hosts Montgomery at San Rafael Friday night while Novato tries for win No. 2 against Petaluma at Novato Saturday.

THAT LITTLE scatback for the Drake Pirates made a sparkling debut last Saturday against the usually strong Petaluma Trojans. Although John Brown is only 5-7 and 145 pounds, he showed he was very tough. He has good moves and picks his holes like an expert, not like a junior with only junior varsity experience.

Don Alvarado, another junior, only had one reception but it was a pip. He did everything good on the play. He showed good hands in catching it between two defenders, good moves by breaking the attempted tackle of one of them, and speed by outracing the other one to the end zone. It all resulted in a 50-yard touchdown play, Don Stone, another junior, throwing the ball.

It was the first time in three years that No. 23, Dean Lazzarini wasn't on the field for the Pirates, and it did seem strange. But then on a punt return, there was No. 23 on the field. Not Lazzarini, but Paletta, John Paletta, who at 5-8 and 155 pounds resembles Dean in his sophomore year at Drake.

It's too early to really know how the Marin Athletic League will turn out, but it looks like Terra Linda will have to show much improvement if the Trojans are going to make a serious stab at the championship.

To say Redwood's Bob Troppmann wasn't in a talkative mood following his loss to El Cerrito would be a serious understatement. It looks like the Giants are in for some hard work this week on the practice field.

THAT FRIDAY night game in Vallejo between Drake and Vallejo's Apaches should really be a game. Vallejo is a preseason pick to win all the marbles in the North Bay League. Last year the Apaches won eight of nine games and Drake won six of nine.

DIRECTIONS FROM A PRETTY LASS

Larami Moreau, 16, of San Anselmo, who will be competing in the Fairfax Festival bicycle races, gets directions to the festival from Cheryl Blaney, Miss Marin. Moreau, winner of a 60-kilometer race in Mexico last July, will be competing in the races which open the festival Sunday at 9 a.m. He will be in a 20-mile Junior Criterium race which will be followed by a stock race, open to anyone, at 10:30 a.m. At 11 a.m., the senior 40-mile race will begin. Miss Marin will present prizes to winners of the Class A senior event. (Independent-Journal photo)

At 35, Willie Is Beginning To Feel Those Bumps And Bruises

HANLEY

Age exacts its inexorable tribute from all athletes and Willie Mays is no exception to the inflexible rule. At 35 Willie's muscles are supple but no longer can be twisted or bent without protesting about the punishment.

Willie no longer tries to steal bases for the sheer joy of a theft. He only will takeoff for second base now when the steal might mean a ball game. So Willie stole second base last Friday night in a tight 2-2 ball game against the Mets.

His slide into second base damaged his right instep. A dozen years ago Mays would have thought nothing about the bruise — just a superficial thing. But this time he couldn't shake it off. Indeed, 48 hours later it still pained him despite soothing treatments by Leo Hughes, team trainer of the Giants.

WILLIE, AT 35, still is a wonder. But his muscles are beginning to react to bruises just like 35-year-old muscles. There no longer is teen age resiliency in them. This became apparent Sunday when Mays let a bloop single drop in shallow right center during a very important stretch game with the Pirates.

THE BLOOPER ultimately led to a Pirate run, the only earned run the Pirates scored in a 3-1 victory over Gaylord Perry. Still any manager would prefer a hobbled Mays in centerfield over an inexperienced rookie. So Herman Franks kept the captain of the Giants in center until Mays had his last swings at bat.

But even at bat Mays couldn't perform his customary heroics and there was nothing else for the manager of the Giants to do. He substituted a rookie in centerfield for Mays in the eighth inning.

THIS DOESN'T mean that Willie is over-the-hill at 35. He will go on for four, possibly five, more years and ultimately might catch the immortal Babe Ruth's all-time homer mark of 714.

Willie himself has grave doubts about ever catching up with Ruth's homer production because he believes he will "slow up in hitting before fielding."

CONTRASTED WITH his .317 batting average and 52 homers of last season, Mays has slowed up in hitting this year. Only twice previously in his 15-year major league career has Willie finished under .300. He wound up the '54 and '56 seasons at 296. He still needs several points to finish .300 or better this year.

And he still needs several RBIs and runs personally scored to put him over the 100 mark in each department. For 12 consecutive years Mays has scored 100 or more runs a season. For the last seven straight years he has driven in 100 or more runs.

TO DATE Mays for 34 homers, 94 RBIs and 92 runs scored in 1966. That record, enviable to most major leaguers, indicates that Willie definitely has slowed up a bit — not because the desire is waning but because his aging muscles are exacting their toll.

BALTIMORE (UPI) —The Baltimore Orioles announced Monday they would sell World Series tickets for the three games to be played in Baltimore on a per game basis rather than in strips in order to offer tickets to three times as many people than the conventional strip system.

Cal, Stanford Face Big 10 Challenges

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Sophomore Gene Washington of Stanford and Rick Bennett of California each face Big Ten defenses Saturday with much riding on how they meet their challenges.

Washington, the 180 - pound quarterback from Long Beach, paced the Indians to a 25 - 21 comeback victory over San Jose State in his inaugural last Saturday. This time he leads the Tribe against the Gophers of Minnesota at Minneapolis.

Bennett, a 205-pound halfback from Selma, gained only 39 yards in 14 carries as Cal's defensive corps brought a 21-6 triumph over Washington State.

"Washington performed adequately although he seemed a little nervous at mid - game," Stanford coach John Ralston told the Northern California Football Writers and Sportscasters yesterday. "We have to take pressure off of him."

The soph quarterback threw two touchdown passes and ran for another in the Stanford victory.

"Bennett did reasonably well as a sophomore in his first game," commented California Coach Ray Willsey, who figures to shuffle his offensive line to get more punch to meet the invasion of Michigan's Wolverines.

California's defensive back Wayne Stewart, the 6-foot 7-inch sophomore who intercepted three Washington State passes and ran one back for a touchdown, was voted back-of-the-week by the writers' group.

San Jose end Steve Cox, with 10 pass receptions for 137 yards won honors as the top lineman.

Coach Harry Anderson of San Jose said halfback Walt Blackledge is out for the season with a knee injury. Awaited is a report on Bobby Trujillo's bruised ribs. If he can't play, the halfback job goes to one of two sophomores — Larry Daniels or Danny Anderson.

The Spartans open their home slate against tough Brigham Young on Saturday night and Coach Anderson said the No. 1 job will be to stop quarterback Virgil Carter who helped BYU win Western Athletic Conference honors a year ago.

Although not at the meeting, University of the Pacific coach Doug Scovil wired the newsmen and pointed out fullback Jack Layland gained 168 yards for an 8.4 average in the Tigers' 30-7 triumph over Los Angeles State.

Quarterback John Quaccia hit four of five passes and gained 111 yards on the ground in Scovil's winning debut. Next Saturday night, the Tigers play host to West Texas State.

Raiders 'Confident' After Latest Loss

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Raiders gained confidence, and hitting ability, they say, in their American Football League loss to the Kansas City Chiefs.

The midwesterners hit the East Bay team for a 32-10 trouncing before some 50,000 spectators in the spectacular opening of the new Oakland Coliseum Sunday.

That roughing up has inspired the Raiders. Back Clem Daniels said of Sunday's game:

"Several of our guys got belted, but they came back and played well—Jim Otto for one. He got hit in the head or something early in the game, but he stayed in there. It was just those little errors that hurt."

Daniels added, "I still think any of three teams can win the Western Division championship — San Diego, Kansas City, or us."

The Raiders may need their confidence this coming weekend when they face the San Diego Chargers in the new Oakland stadium next Sunday.

"We should have run more against the Chiefs," Daniels said about Sunday's loss.

The Raiders threw 49 times against Kansas City but the score was still 17-10 in the fourth period.

Daniels said, "We've always been more successful when our running game has taken the pressure off the passing. I was greatly encouraged by our blocking against Kansas City."

The Raiders are able to move the ball. They outgained Kansas City 367-226. They can also block. Now all they have to do is win.

Floyd Faces His Biggest Bout Tonight

LONDON (UPI) —Two-time world heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson, with his sights still set on regaining the crown a third time, is a strong 6-4 favorite to defeat British champion Henry Cooper tonight in a bout that could be the "most important" of the Patterson's career.

Patterson, who has become a millionaire through boxing, stands to get another shot at heavyweight champion Cassius Clay if he defeats Cooper and West German's Karl Mildenberger, according to matchmakers Hal Conrad and Al Bolan, who are here to watch tonight's fight to arrange a bout between Patterson and Mildenberger.

"We figure this fight is the most important in Patterson's career," Conrad told United Press International. "If he wins, it's Mildenberger.

And if he comes through that we can put him in with Cassius Clay early next year.

"Clay told me after he had beaten Mildenberger in Frankfurt that he would accept Floyd as a challenger if he got past Cooper.

"There's $500,000 ahead for Floyd if he produces the goods. But it's curtains if he loses," Conrad added.

Patterson and Cooper, both of whom have been savagely beaten by Clay, have definite weaknesses that could at any time change the outcome of the fight. Patterson has a notoriously weak chin.

Patterson, 31 has 43 victories, 32 by knockout, and five losses.

Airlines Good Place To Put Your Money

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "I'm 14 years old and would like to know if airlines are good stocks to buy for the future. If so, which one should I choose?" V.Y.

A. Yes, they are, although near-term they are feeling the effect of several adverse factors. Until these factors can be clarified, I would postpone the purchase of airline shares. Briefly, the strike settlement has opened the way for pay hikes to other employees while government regulations of the companies prohibits an increase in fare schedules to cover increased labor costs. In fact, the government could even order fare reductions if the rate of return on the companies' invested capital justified such action. The government might also decide to remove the 7 per cent tax credit on all corporate investment in new equipment which would naturally impair net earnings this year.

But looking ahead, I am impressed by the strong growth rate offered by the industry and the skilled management directing individual lines. I believe that airline travel will expand rapidly and that profit margins will widen as part of their growth pattern. I suggest for your consideration Braniff, National, Pan American, or Pacific Southwest. I would like to point out that the last-named company, because of its intrastate operations, is not subject to CAB regulation.

Q. "Recently you spoke of a stock with 'limited float.' Is this the same as a 'thin market' and what does it mean?" W.W.

A. Yes, the two phrases mean the same thing. Because the capitalization of a company is small or large blocks of its stock are closely held by family members or directors of the company, the shares available for public trading are limited, even though they meet the listing requirements of the exchange where they are traded. Thin markets often result in wide price swings — both upside and downside — especially when a company comes into sudden prominence. If this results from rumors rather than facts, speculative fervor can easily get out of hand.

(Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.)

Stock Market Closes With A Loss Again

It was a second straight day of dull decline.

A lack of conviction, a drying-up of bids rather than active selling, were responsible for the setback, brokers said.

The averages were dampened by sharp losses among such blue chips as General Motors, Du Pont and International Harvester.

Volkswagen Raises Price

DETROIT (AP) — Volkswagen, first of the major auto companies to announce 1967 car prices, yesterday hiked the price of its popular "Beetle" model $54, or about 3.4 per cent, on the East Coast.

The German auto firm said additional safety items needed in the American market, plus increases in materials and labor in Europe, had forced the increase.

None of the major U.S. auto firms has released its prices yet, but they are expectable either late this week or early next week. And all are expected to be higher.

Diesel Manufacturing Increase Adds Space To Schoomaker

Increased activity in the fabrication of large Diesel mobile generator sets has caused A. G. Schoonmaker Co., Sausalito, to add 27,000 square feet to its facilities by taking over the former Lando Products building.

A 12-million dollar open end contract for generators has been awarded to Schoonmaker by the Sacramento Air Material Command at McClellan Air Force Base in quantities up to 706 units. Production will begin next January and continue through October and November.

Another contract for 10 generators in the amount of $1,297,000 was awarded by the Naval Engineering Facilities of the U.S. Navy. The sets will be located in various naval installations throughout the world as a source of prime electrical power.

The company's present backlog of contracts is over 22 million dollars. Employment now stands at nearly 200 and is expected to be increased by another 100 in early 1967.

New Housing Decline Still Continuing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Housing starts—now at their lowest level since the 1960 recession—continued to decline during August but at a slower pace than July, the Commerce Department reported today.

It was the fifth straight month of decline in this key indicator of economic activity and the home builders look for an even further drop. They don't see any real upturn until next spring.

New privately owned housing starts dropped 2 per cent during the month to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 1,057,000 units. This was the lowest level since December 1960, when the rate was 1,048,000.

The August drop was concentrated in the South. Rates in the West and North Central regions increased while in the Northeast the level was substantially unchanged.

Ford Motors Boosts Price

There were a few price cuts of just a few dollars. But most models showed pricetags $60 to $160 more than the base price of 1966 models.

Ford said the prices averaged only $25 per car more than comparably equipped 1966 models, But addition of new equipment ranging from safety items to automatic transmissions, both previously optional, increased the prices much further.

Ford was the first car maker to announce its 1967 prices.

Clausen Seniority Begins To Pay Off For His District

Unanimous committee approval of a $5,135,000 appropriation for purchase of more Point Reyes National Seashore land is a big feather in the hat of our congressman, Don Clausen.

Since election campaign time is at hand, it could be said that the appropriation is a valuable feather in Clausen's campaign hat.

The House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs not only approved the $4 million already approved by the Senate, but tacked on another $1,135,000.

If Clausen has heard the criticism leveled against him by his election opponent—charging that the congressman has been ineffective in pushing Point Reyes Seashore development—Clausen must be especially pleased with his present achievement.

Unanimous committee approval usually means routine passage by the entire House and there is every indication that the Senate will approve the increase without difficulty, too.

It all adds up to another step forward in the long, slow development of Point Reyes National Seashore in Marin.

Clausen has now been in Congress long enough so that the seniority system which works against effectiveness by newcomers is beginning to work in his favor. He is the ranking Republican on the House Public Works Committee.

In this capacity, he has developed a close working relationship with the committee's Democratic chairman.

This means he is in a good position to do effective work on the various sub-committees on which he serves—interstate highways, flood control, public roads, economic development, and rivers and harbors.

Many of the most pressing needs of the Redwood Empire district, which Clausen represents, fall within the subject areas of these sub-committees.

U.S. 101, the Redwood Highway, should be in the federal interstate system. Clausen in time will be able to get it there.

The flood and tidal wave devastated areas of Humbolt and Del Norte Counties—facing a slow-down in lumbering both from the decline in construction activity and the threat of loss of commercial timber lands to public ownership for park purposes—which now need economic development assistance in the worst way and Clausen will be able to steer some their way.

All of the coastal counties, including Marin, need both harbor development and flood control work. Clausen already has produced; in the years ahead it looks like he will be in a better position to do even more.

Phillipines President Marcos Brings A Persuasive Message

WASHINGTON — No American has ever given to Congress or to the country as persuasive a case for the U.S. defense of South Viet Nam as has come from a brave and brilliant Asian leader — President Ferdinand E. Marcos of the Philippines.

President Marcos visited Washington, not as a suppliant for anything from anybody, but as a willing, candid, and stout ally whose own troops are in Viet Nam for the same reasons we are.

Mr. Marcos's words, delivered to a joint session of Congress, from which he won a great and deserved ovation, came from his heart and from his mind.

To heartfelt wonderings of American parents as to why the lives of their sons must be risked in some unknown land, Mr. Marcos's answer came from his clear and vivid understanding of Asia as an Asian as to what really is at stake.

"In Asia today the issue of world war or world peace hangs in perilous balance. In Asia the future of freedom is being disputed in battlefields as well as in the minds and hearts of men — in the hamlets, in the market places.

"Asia may fall but America is the ultimate target. It is, therefore, to your national interest that the plan be aborted. The summons to America is worldwide, but the area of greatest urgency is Asia."

President Marcos comes to Washington at the moment when he can be of the greatest help to the U.S. and when the U.S. can give him the strongest diplomatic backing in the painstaking initiative he is taking to bring ideologically divergent but non-Communist Asian nations closer together to pursue common political, economic, and security goals.

This is his paramount objective and he is pursuing it with a passion for quiet, behind-the-scenes diplomacy which, at this stage is the first ingredient of success.

His main anxiety is that the American people and the American government might yield to fear or frustration in Viet Nam.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Motorcycle Races Were Ignored

Editor, Independent-Journal:

It was with deep regret as I read the Monday and Tuesday sport section of the Independent-Journal that I could find no mention of the motorcycle road races held at Cotati on Sept. 11.

There were top names in racing present, one of whom was Walt Fulton III, who won the Novice 250cc Class at Daytona.

Also there was a $30,000 factory machine from Suzuki in Japan, complete with factory rider.

There was a side car race that was a hair raiser—there will be more of these in the future.

I was wondering if your policy on sports does not include cycle racing—or if you have not been receiving information on this. If the latter is true, this can be remedied.

Homes Assn. Didn't Veto Ranch Sale

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The I-J of Sept. 13 reported incorrectly that the Board of Directors of San Anselmo Homes Assn. voted to "oppose the city's selling any part of the Sorich Ranch" park.

May I quote the actual resolution, which opposed "a hasty decision to sell any acreage from the Sorich Ranch because of the long-range implications of such action."

Two directors spoke against blanket opposition to selling part of the park and mentioned the city's financial problems in park development. All of the directors agreed that no such sale should take place without careful study, in view of our rising population pressures and the future need for open recreation areas.

Banner Year For Easter Seal

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you on behalf of the Easter Seal Society, the Easter Seal Auxiliary, and all of the participants in Easter Seal programs for the fine coverage and excellent cooperation of the Independent-Journal during the last fiscal year.

We feel that 1965-66 was a banner year for the Marin Easter Seal Society in providing services to our handicapped people. Many of our goals have been reached, and many new goals are coming up on the horizon.

To mark 27 years of community service, and to launch year 28, we are holding our annual banquet on Wednesday, September 28, at the San Geronimo Country Club in San Geronimo Valley. . . .

Can't Prisoners Fly Instead?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

We of Marin must really have an efficient Sheriff's department when two deputies are sent to Los Angeles in a van to bring back one prisoner.

The airlines are fast and it only takes one man to make the round trip the same day, and the deputy will be returned in a healthy condition.

No doubt the deputy will now be pensioned for the heart attack brought on by the heat in Bakersfield.

What about it Mr. Sheriff? Can't we fly the prisoners back and have a car meet the plane?

Overhead Wires Worst Blight

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Three cheers for the people of Country Club and their "Little Wood-Side" project. This project is aimed at high-tension lines and towers, but it's a shame that it cannot be enlarged to include all the overhead wires and poles.

Someday our Supervisors are going to awaken to the fact that the single largest blight on Marin's beauty is the overhead wires and ugly poles which invade almost all areas of the county.

The P.G. and E. is spending millions of dollars in other counties to cure this problem and if our Supervisors and Planning Commission would get on the ball we could have the same for Marin.

Utility Lines Ruin The View

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Ten years ago we built our dream home on a Mill Valley hillside that has a sweeping panoramic view of Mt. Tamalpais to San Francisco. At that time there was one simple set of P.G. and E. lines coming up the hill obstructing our view.

We had hopes that someday the poles would be put underground, but things have become worse instead of better. Time and time again more equipment and crossbars have been added to the poles and the lines made thicker and thicker for servicing homes far beyond us. We count 28 lines going to one pole. Now instead of living on a beautiful Marin hillside it feels as though we are living on the grounds of a power station.

It is against the law to throw a piece of paper on our public highways, yet one of our most prosperous public service enterprises is littering our landscapes more and more everyday. I wish that someone could make the P.G. and E. get their messy lines out of our beautiful view.

Politics And Judges

Editor, Independent-Journal:

All this equivocation about whether Judge Gardiner did or didn't know his name was to be used to raise funds for Pat Brown misses the point. No one questions these facts: The Judge's home was used; money was solicited there; his son-in-law sent out the invitations; and the Canons of Judicial Ethics stipulate a judge should not seek political funds or make political endorsements!

All of this serves to illustrate an issue often proclaimed by Ronald Reagan: "The political appointment of judges has, over the years, resulted in a prostitution of our judicial process. As Governor, I will support and work for a plan to take the appointment of judges out of politics."

SKEPTIC LOSES BIG SALE

"About $2500," the proprietor answered.

"Let me have 16 of them," the customer replied.

The buyer turned out to be a crew member of a ship that had just completed a successful season. Every seaman aboard had received $10,000 in pay and the young man had gone ashore to buy a car for each of them.

It will be a rare day indeed when any of us runs into such an opportunity. But if you must decide on the sincerity of others, the Lord will be far more pleased if you give each member the benefit of the doubt. Both you and they will gain in the long run.

State Transportation Field Revamp Proposal Considered

By EDWIN S. CAPPS

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—California's "Little Hoover" commission will meet in San Francisco this week to consider possible changes in the authority, makeup and duties of the California Highway Commission, transportation agency and department of public works.

Along with some questions which the "Little Hoover" group has asked, it will consider proposals by Gov. Edmund G. Brown for some changes.

Brown's plan calls for extending the functions of the transportation agency to the entire field of transportation, rather than highways, especially in connection with responsibilities of all transportation agencies at the federal and local levels.

It also would remove the administrator of the transportation agency as chairman of the California highway commission. In his place, the director of public works would serve as ex-officio chairman of the commission.

THE GOVERNOR'S proposal would appear to be somewhat of a compromise between the present situation and the program espoused in 1965 by Assemblyman Edwin L. Z'berg, D-Sacramento, and his Assembly committee on natural resources, planning and public works.

Z'berg, with strong backing from conservationists and some anti-freeway organizations, had proposed a general overhaul of the present commission's powers of route selection.

Brown's plan could meet with more favor. It's an open secret that many persons involved in the transportation agency feel the present setup has some flaws.

Many of them feel that Robert B. Bradford, transportation agency administrator and chairman of the highway commission, is spread too thinly in his jurisdiction and a bit too heavy in his authority.

Z'berg's plan of 1965 would have divested the commission of much of its authority in selecting highway or freeway routes and would have permitted the state park commission to veto any routes which might conflict with state parks.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

LBJ Is Contradictory On Foreign Aid Bills

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The $3.1 billion in new foreign aid funds slated to be considered by the House next week is a perfect illustration of professing one thing and doing exactly the opposite.

While President Johnson almost daily is stentoriously declaiming about the urgent need for government economizing, at the same time he is insistenly demanding that Congress vote more billions for foreign aid spending. His own recommendation early this year was $3.386 billion.

The $3.1 billion figure is what the House Appropriations Committee approved. It may be slashed by the full House, and almost certainly by the Senate. What the final total will be is anyone's guess. But it will definitely be more than $2.5 billion.

THE PRESIDENT is disregarding three directly related facts of which he is fully aware:

1. The long and scandal-ridden record of gross waste, of mismanagement, incompeternce, boondoggling and worse that has characterized the handling of foreign aid, running into billions of dollars, repeatedly exposed by Senate and House investigations and by the Government Accounting Office.

2. As of July 1 of this year, there was an estimated $6.739 billion in unexpended funds in AID (foreign aid agency) pipeline.

3. Actual Johnson administration requests, numbering 15 in all, for new foreign aid funds of all kinds exceed $9 billion. This does not include military assistance for South Viet Nam; that's in the defense budget.

SECRETARY RUSK had no answer when bluntly challenged by Rep. Wayne Hays, D-O., a ranking member of the Foreign Affairs Committee, during hearings on the foreign aid authorization bill.

"I have put this question before in reference to a successful project, and I have never had an answer," said Hays to the Secretary of State. Tell me one project, anywhere in the world outside of Western Europe, that AID has financed and which has been a success."

Former Vice President Nixon will be the guest speaker at a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner for South Carolina Republicans in Columbia, Sept. 28.

Democratic insiders are saying that if the election were this month, Republican Winthrop Rockefeller would win the Arkansas governorship against Democat James Johnson. As of now, Rockefeller is definitely out in front. . . .

The Republican Coordinating Committee will meet in Washington Oct. 3 to approve a number of position papers that will be issued during the election campaign. The GOP leaders will urge Congress to slash at least $3 billion from President Johnson's budget. The Coordinating Committee is headed by National Chairman Ray Bliss, and includes former President Eisenhower, Nixon, Barry Goldwater, and former Governors Tom Dewey and Alf Landon. . . .

George Burdon, head of the 165,000-member United Rubber Workers, will be unseated by vice president Peter Bommarito in an election later this month. Bommarito has blasted Burdon on a number of charges, among them excessive expenses.

CHEMICAL defoliation and crop destruction in South Viet Nam will be greatly expanded by the U.S. Air Force. Such operations to date against Viet Cong strongholds have been deemed very successful, and plans call for tripling them. . . . Sen. Joseph Clark, D-Pa., member of the Foreign Relations Committee, will tour Iron Curtain countries after Congress shuts down. A critic of administration foreign policies, Clark is trying to get other members of the committee to join him on this junket—which has been authorized by Chairman J. William Fulbright. . . .

There will be no cutback this year in the U.S. troop strength of more than 300,000 in Europe, but the chances are strong there will be by next spring. An important reason will be to save on dollar expenditures in highly prosperous Europe. . . .

RUSSIA WILL continue to increase the number of reconnaissance satellites it frequently launches. In the past several years, the number of these satellites has jumped by more than 50 per cent.

If it looks as if Congress will recess next month instead of adjourning, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., chairman of the Labor Committee, will try to stall consideration of the long-pending $1.75 billion anti-poverty authorization bill until after the November election.

DEPUTY WHITE House press secretary Robert Fleming is slated for a new job. When named early this year, Fleming was announced as eventually succeeding Bill Moyers. But it isn't working out that way. Instead, George Christian, former assistant to Texas Gov. John Connally, is taking over Fleming's work.

What Happens To Novato Fire District If County Takes Over?

THE PROPOSAL to create one large fire district for all of Marin County has created quite a stir in North Marin at least, and we suspect, in other parts of the county as well.

As we see it, the entire chain of events that led up to the proposal started in Novato. Former Mayor Robert D. Carrow could see where there was a duplication of taxation for the residents of Novato. They were paying 75 cents per $100 for their own fire district. In addition, they were being taxed by the county for the support of the county fire department.

Looking through his law books, he found out that if the City Council asked for it, the Board of Supervisors could eliminate the tax for structural fire fighting from cities and istricts which provided their own structural fire protection. This was done and the residents of Novato and other areas enjoyed a one-cent and then a three-cent reduction in their taxation for county fire fighting.

ON THE OTHER side of the picture, this left the county fire department with less money to operate on and the same amount of territory to cover. Some of this, such as Marinwood and Santa Venetia, are as heavily populated as a city.

So the county administrator, probably looking at his law books, struck back, making a proposal to abolish the districts and give the county that money to use.

Fire Chief George Cavallero of Novato could see both good and bad to the proposal. He said it could be bad at first but in 25 to 30 years might be good. Before he or his fire board would take a stand on it, they wanted the full details of the proposals.

WILL IT CHANGE the rating of Novato with the Board of Fire Underwriters? This could raise fire insurance rates in the Novato portion of the district if it was given the same rating as the county.

What will happen to the equipment of the Novato district? Novato has one of the best equipped departments in the county. Would some of that equipment be moved to other areas? Maybe the district would not be absorbed until Novato has its aerial ladder. That would be the only piece of equipment able to reach the top of the Civic Center. Would it be moved down to that area to protect that building? Would some of the grass fire fighting equipment be moved farther West into the ranching areas and leave the houses of Novato adjacent to empty fields of dry grass, unprotected?

What would happen to the tax rate. If it now takes 75 cents to operate the Novato district, would it go up or down trying to raise the rest of the county to the same standards of fire protection as Novato? Or would the standards of the Novato district be lowered?

Would there be more benefit to the Novato firemen to be under the county than a district? Would their wages and fringe benefits be more or less? Would they be subject to transfer to other stations and lose their feeling of being a part of Novato?

THE NOVATO FIRE District was organized in 1926 and the countys in 1941. So the Novato district has an older, longer tradition of being a part of the community than the county.

That brings up the main point of keeping the Novato Fire District separate, of having it run for and by the people of the Novato area.

The district was organized originally for the protection of the area from fires. Because it was the first such government organization in the area and was operated basically with volunteer help, it became the heart of public service to the area.

Even today a big share of the work done in fighting fires is done by the active volunteers. If the county took over, it probably would have to double the man power to make up for the loss of volunteers.

IN THE YEARS that we have been here, we have seen the Novato firemen perform tasks far and above any required of firemen. We have seen them pump out houses when water mains broke while people were away on vacations. We have seen them answer many calls with their resuscitator. We have seen them use artificial respiration to restore life to a dog. We have seen them repair a roof and move furniture to protect it during a storm. We have seen them out in the worst of storms cleaning drainage ditches to help in the runoff to keep people's homes from being flooded.

We have seen the department, which was the center of life in Novato for many years, do so many things that ordinarily are not expected of a fire department, that we know that the men in the department have a feeling of community dedication and the spirit of the whole department makes it feel that it exists to serve the people, not only in fire protection, but in general public service.

Could any department run from another city get this type of response from its men for Novato?

September Draft Quota Up To 40

They were: Paul Morse of Belvedere, Francis Mosher III of Mill Valley, and Robert Blake II of San Rafael.

MORRIE RYSKIND

Los Angeles Union Revolt Held Comparable To Revere's Ride

UNACCUSTOMED AS I AM to public cheering — Yippee!

You who value freedom might put a ring around the date of September 11, 1966. Some day it may be honored by a patriotic bard, much as Longfellow immortalized the 18th of April, 1775.

Still, it's been a long time between drinks and I may be pardoned if I had a couple last Sunday and now view the world through rosier-colored glasses.

BUT BY NOW, you'll want to know what this shouting is all about. Let me recap the tale for you:

Some weeks ago I noted here, among similar items, that the executive board of the Los Angeles Union of Operating Engineers had voted $50,000 from its treasury toward Pat Brown's gubernatorial campaign. Such tactics were frowned on in the Saigon elections but, of course, the ballot is new over there.

What made this story different was that it had a hero who not only resented his dues being used for a candidate not of his choice, but was determined to do something about it.

And so Rollie Peterson took the matter to the courts — and, almost immediately, lost a job he had just been hired for. Life is full of such freak coincidences, but I thought it worth mentioning.

The piece brought mail from other unionists — not only from California, let me add — commending Peterson's guts, but understandably reluctant to follow suit. "I might never work here again" was a refrain I read over and over.

BUT I DID get a message of hope from Peterson's attorney — whom I have never met, nor do I know his client:

"Since filing his suit, Mr. Peterson's only job was terminated four hours after he started work. However, within a few days after your article, he was given a job which appears to be permanent . . . I do not know how it happened, but I would like to believe that the power of the press was instrumental in impelling the union to see to it that he was not discriminated against in his employment."

I'D LIKE TO believe that, too, but you can't prove the power of the press by me. I have not noted that tyrants trembled when I entered the ring against them. And the 32 knockouts attached to my name in the record books have all been scored against me.

So, though humanly grateful for the compliment, I did not take it too literally, knowing that the most I could claim was an assist on the play. The real reason, I suspected, was that the phony shake of the dice had stirred up enough resentment in the rank and file, Democrats as well as Republicans, to cause the executive board to step more warily.

And so it proved. The board called a general membership meeting for September 11, and Joseph H. Seymour, business manager of the 22,000-member local, confidently predicted overwhelming ratification of the $50,000 raid on the treasury.

But the boys said "Nuts!" to the Seymour script and rewrote it completely completely. And by their ballots made it emphatically clear that they regarded any disposal of union funds as the province of the whole membership, not the board. Whereupon Seymour dropped the hot potato entirely — and the $50,000 remains in the treasury.

So you see why I'm cheering. Not that I regard it as a victory for Reagan, for clearly many who will vote for Brown were among the mutineers. It was rather a victory for Joe Doakes, the working stiff, who served notice that he was tired of being taken for granted and wanted the right of any American to think and vote for himself.

MAYBE IT wasn't Runnymede or Bunker Hill — but it was a glorious start. Let the Liberty Bell ring out!

Disney Project Due State Money

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gov. Brown pledged yesterday the state and federal governments will cooperate to finance a $25 million highway to serve Mineral King, the recreation center to be developed by entertainment czar Walt Disney.

Disney was selected last September by the Department of Agriculture to develop the site. He has announced plans for a $35 million center.

Brown predicted the project would add $1 billion to California's economy in 15 years and would create 2,400 permanent jobs.

Kidney Fund Raising Drive Help Sought

Mrs. Reginald Valencia, Marin County volunteer chairman for the Northern California Kidney Foundation's candy drive, announced yesterday that many additional volunteer workers are needed for a fund-raising drive that started last Friday in San Rafael, Novato and Tiburon.

Funds from the "trick or treat" candy sale will be used to help support the foundation's drug bank, which provides free medication to victims of kidney disease on a basis of need.

Plastic hand puppets filled with Halloween candy are available at the Central Valley National Bank in Novato and will also be sold in neighborhoods by volunteers.
